Common Council Adopts Law to Aid Delinquent Taxpayers in Kingston

Local Law Adopted Tuesday Night Permits the Redemption of Property Sold at Tax Sale in Installment Payments.

LICENSE BARBERS

Local Barbers Ask Aldermen To Adopt Ordinance To License Barbers and Barber Shops.

The Common Council Tuesday evening unanimously adopted a local law permitting delinquent taxpayers to redeem properties sold at a city tax sale by installment payments of a dollar or more, and referred to the laws and rules committee a proposed ordinance to license barbers and barber shops in Kingston. The laws and rules committee will hold a public hearing on the proposed ordinance later in the month. All of the aldermen were present at the meeting except Alderman Eugene Cornwell, who was confined to his home on Pine street by illness. The council adopted a resolution expressing sympathy and the hope for his speedy recovery.

Some time ago Mayor C. J. Heiselman suggested to the aldermen that some sort of plan, similar to the Christmas Club, be adopted to aid delinquent taxpayers whose properties had been sold because the taxes were unpaid. The mayor's suggestion met with the unanimous approval of the council and resulted in a local law being drafted. This law came up for its third and final hearing Tuesday evening and was then unanimously adopted. It becomes effective March 15, and affects only properties sold prior to the passage of the law. In brief the law permits delinquent taxpayers to redeem properties sold at a city tax sale by installment payments of one dollar or more.

Barbers Want Ordinance

The laws and rules committee reported it had met with representatives of the barbers of the city with reference to a proposed ordinance for better protection of the trade. A proposed ordinance was submitted by the barbers with the request that it be adopted by the council. The request was signed by 51 barbers of Kingston.

The ordinance, if adopted, provides that no barber may open a barber shop or engage in the pursuit of barbering in the city unless licensed by the city clerk. The license for barber shops was fixed at $5; license for practicing barber at $3; license for barber's apprentice, $3; license for barber school, $50. A delegation of barbers was present in the council chamber but was not heard as the proposed ordinance was referred back to the laws and rules committee who will hold a public hearing this month.

Rejected Damage Claim

The auditing committee reported recommending that the claim of Minnie Norton against the city be rejected. The report was adopted.

Meet With Police Board

Alderman Epstein introduced a resolution that the chair appoint a committee from the council to meet with the mayor and police board to discuss various matters. What the matters were was not made public. President Schwenk appointed Aldermen Epstein, Zucca and Kolis as the committee.

1932 Relief Cases Here

The emergency relief bureau filed a report of its activities during January with the council. The ERB had spent $71,737.88, caring for 1,242 relief cases, including both home and work relief. The report was filed.

To Sell Insure

The board of public welfare wrote that it desired to become self insurers on same plan as adopted by the board of public works some time ago. The request was granted by the council.

Other Matters

The board of education sent in a communication that the Epstein resolution for the building of a junior high school had been received and filed. The Epstein resolution also sent in a communication outlining action taken by the club favoring the erection of a junior high school. It also was filed.

The emergency relief bureau stated it had taken under consideration the resolution introduced by Alderman Epstein that the Weber House on Mill street be remodeled as a work relief project.

Resolutions Introduced

The aldermen introduced the following resolutions which were referred to the proper city departments:

By Alderman Schoonmaker—that street light be placed at corner of Cherry street and Miller's Lane; that board of public works and TERA grade Grand View avenue from Main

Soldier's Funeral On Friday For Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes

"Great Dissenter" of the Supreme Court Died at 2:15 A. M. Today of Bronchial Pneumonia, Two Days Short of 94th Birthday—Burial in Arlington National Cemetery, in Honor of Civil War Wounds, With Nation's Great Paying Tribute.

Washington, March 6 (AP)—A soldier's funeral was prepared today for Oliver Wendell Holmes, "Great Dissenter" of the Supreme Court, who died of bronchial pneumonia at 2:15 a. m. Just two days short of his 94th birthday.

On Friday, which would have been his birthday had he lived, the nation's leaders will gather in All Souls Church to honor the man almost universally hailed as one of America's foremost liberals.

Chief Justice Hughes and the other men who served with him on the nation's highest tribunal will be honorary pallbearers. The burial, in Arlington National cemetery, will be a military one in recognition of the wounds he suffered as a Union soldier in the Civil War.

The full, rich life of the retired justice ended serenely this morning in his old red brick house a few blocks from the White House.

His physician, Dr. Thomas A. Clayton, said it was the "most peaceful death I ever saw."

Holmes had dissented smilingly almost to the last. Until he fell yesterday into the deep sleep from which he never roused, he had scoffed at the anxiety of doctors and friends over his condition and weakly joshed his nurses.

The attack of bronchial pneumonia developed from a cold contracted February 23 on one of his frequent drives through the country in a rented automobile.

When Mark Howe, one of his former secretaries, stepped to the door of the old house at 2:20 a. m. to tell reporters of his friend's death, grief was written deeply upon his face.

A little later Professor Felix Frankfurter of Harvard Law School, the aged justice's close friend, and John G. Palfrey of Boston, his business representative, left for their hotel. James Rowe, Mr. Holmes' last secretary, appeared at the door once, white and shaken. The others who were at the bedside when the justice died—Edward J. Holmes of Boston, a nephew; Mrs. Edward Holmes; Thomas Corcoran, government attorney; and Mary Donnellan, a faithful servant.

Taxi drivers passing in the early morning hours stopped to inquire about the justice and sorrowfully shook their heads on learning of his passing.

Word of his death was sent immediately to the White House. President Roosevelt had kept closely in touch with Holmes' attendants during his illness.

Holmes' first public service was in the blue uniform of federal forces during the civil war. He was wounded three times and after peace was declared returned to Harvard at the age of 23. Often in recent years he had visited nearby scenes where he fought long ago.

A believer that "the place for a man who is complete in all his powers is in the fight," he found a well-rounded life in the legal profession. After 20 years on the Massachusetts Supreme Court he was elevated by President Theodore Roosevelt to the Supreme Court in December, 1902. There it was that he wrote the opinions which became known not only for their legal wisdom but as fine literature.

In a statement prepared to accompany introduction of the resolution, Cullin said he was removing Moses "against the united protests of 137 business and civic organizations in the city of New York who have protested in thunder tones against this invasion of local self-government. Irrespective of party and without regard to station, from the newboy to the magnate, the citizens of New York are up in arms against this outrageous performance."

Cullin said the resolution was intended partly as a response to numerous letters from Manhattan and Brooklyn residents with regard to his speech in the House January 23, when he urged the proposed new $4,880,000 work relief fund be kept from Ickes' administration in view of his attitude toward Moses.

At that time Cullin said "Honest Harold had done many stupid things but nothing he has done is so thoroughly contemptible as his invasion of the autonomy of New York city."

Loyalist Greek Troops Supervisors Will Meet Open Final Drive Today To Grind Revolt in Mud

Turkey and Bulgaria Guard Frontiers Against Trouble Which May Break Out Momentarily as the Tension Grows.

A special meeting of the board of supervisors will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the court house at which time action will be taken by the board to reinstate James F. Loughran as county superintendent of highways in Ulster County.

The Appellate Division held that the action of the 17 Democratic members of the board in dismissing Mr. Loughran on charges was in error and that the board should reinstate him. The dismissal of Mr. Loughran which took place nearly a year ago was by a strict party vote with the Democratic members of the board voting to oust him and the Republican members voting to dismiss the charges.

Following the ousting of Arthur F. Hallinan as county superintendent, the Democratic members of the board and has since held the office. In behalf of Mr. Loughran his attorney, Harry H. Fleming, appeared to the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court and that court held that the charges had not been sustained and directed that Mr. Loughran be reinstated with back pay from the time he was dismissed.

The county attorney took an appeal to the Court of Appeals and that court unanimously affirmed the Appellate Division. Judge John T. Loughran of Kingston did not vote when the matter was put to a vote in the Court of Appeals since it is customary for a local judge, familiar with many of the facts and acquainted with counsel and client, not to cast his vote where local matters are involved.

Since the Court of Appeals directed the reinstatement of James F. Loughran as county superintendent of highways the Democrats have endeavored to have legislation passed at Albany abolishing the position of County Superintendent of Highways and creating the office of County Engineer, whose duties would be the same as those of the county superintendent.

It is anticipated that there will be considerable excitement at the meeting this evening as the minority members of the board may have something to say in regard to the proposed abolishing of the office and the creation of the new office. Under the order of the court there is but one thing the board can do, reinstate Mr. Loughran to his former position.

Should the Democrats be successful in having the legislature pass legislation abolishing the office of county superintendent of highways and creating the office of County Engineer it is understood that Mr. Hallinan will be given the new post.

In some quarters it is believed the special legislation will fail to pass even though introduced by Democrats in the Democratic controlled senate and assembly. Governor Lehman has intimated at times that there is now too much "special legislation."

In addition to the reinstatement of Mr. Loughran other matters to be taken up will be the rights of way for the N-Y-B-P and other matters which may be classified as routine.

U.S. Board Refuses License For Radio Station In City

Federal Communications Commission Has Refused to Issue Joint License to Police Department and Central Hudson Corp.

The recently appointed Federal Communications Commission, which holds the authority to issue licenses for radio stations, has refused to issue the joint license sought by the Kingston police department and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, although a similar license was issued in Poughkeepsie, and is now in active operation. The board of police commissioners will hold a special meeting this evening to decide what action is to be taken.

While it can not be stated what action the police board will take this evening, it would not be at all surprising if the board decided to apply for a license for the installation of its own radio station.

It will be recalled that recently the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. offered to install a radio broadcasting system in this city to be used jointly by the police department and the corporation. A similar system is in use in Poughkeepsie. The offer of the Central Hudson was accepted by the police board, and two new automobiles have been added to the police equipment in which it is planned to install radios.

The Central Hudson also made a similar offer to the Newburgh police department, which was accepted, and it is understood that the federal commission has also refused to issue the joint license asked for.

It is understood that the police department may obtain a license for its own use and own broadcasting system. To install such a system it is said would cost approximately $11,600.

Until recently all permits or licenses for radio broadcasting stations had been issued by the Federal Radio Commission, but recently by act of Congress all of the power of that commission was transferred to the newly created Federal Communications Commission, and it is this newly created commission that has refused the granting of a joint license to be used by the local police department and the Central Hudson.

"DIPLOMATIC COLD" WAS REASON FOR POSTPONEMENT
Berlin, March 6 (AP)—German officials admitted today that the British white book on German armaments, rather than the threat of Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, was the guiding influence behind Berlin's postponement of Sir John Simon's visit.

There was little effort today to conceal the fact that the Fuehrer's cold is more diplomatic than real. Sir John, British foreign secretary, was to have come to Berlin tomorrow to discuss European peace problems with Hitler.

"It was blow for blow," one official of the Wilhelmstrasse said. "The white book was a blow for us and we replied with another blow."

The foreign office said the negotiations growing out of the Anglo-French talks in London are definitely off. "And it is impossible to foresee when they will recommence."

The white paper, officials said, "made it quite evident that Simon-Hitler talks would be difficult and unpleasant, and the leader needed to be in tip-top shape before undertaking them. The tone of the whole undertaking has changed since Germany welcomed the Anglo-French accord with the great hope of realizing something definite."

Hitler was working as usual today and was not confined to his apartment. The propaganda minister said "his indisposition is very slight."

The German press published long extracts from the British white paper and reports that Simon was under fire in parliament.

SAYS MRS. GOULD ASKED ABOUT RICH CUSTOMERS
New York, March 6 (AP)—An ex-proprietor of a Paris bar frequented by a gay crowd of American expatriates testified today that Mrs. Wilma E. Gould once offered to "take care" of him if he would introduce her to some of his wealthy men customers.

After the witness, John Stanley, left the stand, Leon M. Prince, counsel for two of the men who Mrs. Gould charged, hired "Prince Mike Romanoff," whose real name is Harry Gershowitz, to corroborate her story.

"I feel that we have shown that Mrs. Gould's allegations have not been proved," Prince said during a short recess. "And maybe I have an intention of putting Gershowitz on the stand."

Cornell and Bergner Given Stage Awards

New York, March 6 (AP).—Judging the 10 best performances of the past season on Broadway, New York dramatic critics are unanimous in selecting Katharine Cornell and Elizabeth Bergner as the theatre's two outstanding actresses. Not a male actor won the approval of all the reviewers.

Participating in the annual poll conducted by the Associated Press, every first string critic cast a vote for Miss Cornell's Juliet in her lavish $35,000 production of "Romeo and Juliet", and for Miss Bergner's interpretation of the immoral wait in "Escape Me Never".

It was the American debut of this Austrian stage and screen star who was banned from Germany by the Nazis.

In the poll of two seasons ago two male actors, George M. Cohan and Henry Hull, were unanimously selected along with Helen Hayes.

The only man this season who approached a clean sweep was Pierre Fresnay, French star playing in "Noah." He missed the top niche by a single vote.

The critics who participated in the poll are Brooks Atkinson of the Times, John Anderson of the Journal, Percy Hammond of the Herald Tribune, Walter Winchell of the Mirror, John Mason Brown of the Post, Burns Mantle of the Daily News, Bernard Sobel of the Sunday Mirror and Gilbert Gabriel of the American.

"VASSAR BILL" LOCKED IN COMMITTEE TODAY

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP).—The "Vassar bill", requiring students in tax-supported colleges in New York state to take an oath of allegiance to the constitution, was locked up in committee today in its first setback. The education committee of the Assembly late yesterday voted not to report the measure out for action, preventing its appearance on the House calendar for the time being at least.

Although the vote was not announced, it was understood the measure failed by one vote to win the approval of the committee. The only hope for the bill now is that one member will change his vote.

The Senate approved the bill Monday night after a lengthy and bitter debate.

HOLLISTER STURGES, Jr.

Albany, March 6 (Special).—Although a morning "legislative day" was held, nearly all the senators were at the funeral of Senator Henry I. Patrie at Dolgeville. The members will reconvene tonight for a full evening session in an attempt to clear from the calendar the many pages of bills that must be finished in short order before adjournment the end of this month.

"Milk Dumping"

Assemblyman Irving M. Ives, minority leader, has offered a resolution calling on congress to pass immediate legislation to prevent "milk dumping" into this state by producers in adjoining states, which has broken down the existing price structure of this commodity.

This move follows on the heels of the decision by the United States Supreme Court invalidating the right of the Division of Milk Control of the Department of Agriculture and Markets of price-fixing which milk dealers pay producers for their product outside of the state and yet sold within.

Mexicans

Because of the government's action in Mexico, the assembly has unanimously passed a resolution calling upon congress to take steps regarding the persecution of Catholics in that country. But it is doubtful if official Washington will do very much about it, because diplomatic relations in the history of that country and ours have always been a little touchy, and often has Uncle Sam been the one in wrong. We Americans are not over-proud of some of our ancestors' activities in treatment of other nations, and the federal department of state, on whose shoulders such responsibilities fall, is not very apt to run out and lecture another government on how to treat their own citizens.

Spain

Both chambers have passed the act to create the Rockland-Westchester Causeway and Tunnel Authority to put a causeway across and tunnel under the Hudson between Nyack and Tarrytown. Only hitch is that we will still have to pay a toll. This measure, which has caused considerable debate and received 10 dissenting votes in the lower house yesterday, now goes to the governor for his signature. Rockland county's assemblyman and the two from Orange were among those opposed to it.

New District

The Democrats in both chambers are squabbling for the creation of a tenth judicial district, so that Buffalo can have an opportunity for appointment of more judges. These will be made by the governor. He often appoints Democratic judges. It is interesting to hear the Democrats insist that the bill is not a political one, and to hear the Republicans with equal determination insist that it is. There is little doubt as to who is correct, and also as to whether or not the bill will pass all the way through, in that the Democratic party is in control. Two

Boy Scouts Will Hold Regional Conference In City April 11-13

Facilities of the Governor Clinton Hotel will be taxed to their utmost for the accommodation of the Regional Conference, Boy Scouts of America, to be held there April 11, 12 and 13.

The conference is for lay scout-workers of Region 2, which comprises the states of New York and New Jersey, and judging from attendance at these yearly meetings in the past should bring some four or five hundred scout workers—council officers, district officials, troop committeemen and scout masters—to Kingston.

The conference was held in the city of Buffalo last year and this is the first time this important meeting has been held in the Hudson valley. Business sessions will be held in the lounge of the Governor Clinton Hotel and will be presided over by Amory Houghton, president of the Corning Glass Works, who is chairman of the regional committee. On Friday night, April 12, the big banquet will be held and will take all available space, including both dining rooms.

Many Expected.

A large portion of the delegates will drive to Kingston and it is estimated that arrangements will have to be made to take care of at least 150 automobiles.

Three thousand folders announcing the coming conference and giving details of the meeting are now being printed for distribution to "scouters" in the two states comprising Region 2.

There was a representative meeting at the Governor Clinton Tuesday night to discuss plans for the conference and to select chairmen for the various committees that will handle details of the work. The meeting was attended by Chief Wood of the police department, members of the convention bureau of the Common Council, Scout officials of the Kingston District and representatives from the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs and the American Legion.

The Chairmen

The following will be asked to serve as committee chairmen: Exhibits—Edward M. Huben. Music—Paul A. Zucca. Banquet—Harry Halverson. Publicity—Robert K. Hancock. Ira V. D. Warren.

Scout Executive Wright stated that one of the features of the conference will be the exhibit to be shown by the Supply Department of the National Council. This exhibit fills some 15 or 20 large trunks and is rarely put up except at national scout gatherings. Mr. Wright said that Kingston was very fortunate to get the exhibit, before it is taken to Chicago for the national meeting to be held in that city in May.

The exhibit, which will be open to the public, comprises complete display of material and literature used in Cub, Troop, Sea and Rural Scouting, charts of the coming national jamboree to be held in the city of Washington in August, a model scout camp and exhibits of tents and other materials.

English Navy to Get Ships in Bill

London, March 6 (AP).—Construction of three new cruisers, one flotilla leader, eight destroyers and three submarines is provided for in the navy estimates for 1935 sent to the house of commons today.

The estimates total £60,050,000 (approximately $300,250,000), an increase of £3,500,000 (approximately $17,500,000) over last year's figures.

The estimates brought the total net increase for Great Britain's fighting services, the army, Royal Air Force and navy, announced during the past three days to £19,539,000 (approximately $97,695,000).

Tokyo Comment.

Tokyo, March 6 (AP).—Commenting on talk of the possibility of a western powers uniting in offering an international loan to China, a foreign office spokesman said today any efforts to extend international control over China should be abandoned as they were "inimical to the peace of eastern Asia."

At Nassau.

Nassau, Bahamas, March 6 (AP).—Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., the motion picture actor, has arrived aboard his chartered yacht, the Carolina, with a party which includes Lady Ashley of London, Fred Astaire, the movie star, and Bentla Hume, English actress.

Federal Relief Roll At New Record High.

Washington, March 6 (AP).—The federal relief population today reached a record high of 22,375,000 as Harry L. Hopkins pushed efforts to increase contributions from states and communities.

Relief administration officials estimated that 5,400,000 families averaging 4 to a family and 775,000 single persons were on relief. Funds were withheld from one state, Arkansas, pending compliance with the relief administration's requirements that it put up $1,500,000 during the coming year.

Grants for the first 15 days of March, including special activities except rural rehabilitation for the entire month, totaled $62,513,411 for 42 states, not including unannounced funds for Delaware, New York, Illinois, Minnesota, New Mexico, and Vermont. The Maryland grant, however, includes rural rehabilitation for the entire month.

Running at a cost of $5,000,000 a day, the relief administration obtained $80,000,000 for March by transfer of PWA funds. Secretary Jakes said recently he expected the total of $175,000,000 has advanced for relief to be repaid from the $4,880,000,000 work relief bill.

Townsend Plan Put Aside for a Session

Washington, March 6 (AP).—The Townsend pension plan, Democratic leaders said today with obvious relief, is dead for this session of Congress.

Although reluctant to speak publicly, they pointed to the fact that only 20 signatures had been obtained so far on a house petition to force a vote on the $200-a-month pension bill. The 30 were affixed in the first two days after the presentation of the petition but 218 are necessary.

Friends of the legislation insisted that much more would be heard of the Townsend proposal and that eventually it will be adopted. Administration chiefs, conscious of the heavy influx of mail urging congressional approval, had acknowledged some moments of concern lest they be forced to grapple openly with the Townsend drive.

Dr. F. E. Townsend, the Long Beach, Cal., author of the plan, has refused to concede defeat at this session.

Airplanes Fail in Search.

Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, March 6 (AP).—Lady Young and Dr. J. Kerby again today were without the deities of civilization, for an airplane failed in its attempt to carry champagne and sandwiches, as well as medicine, to the two Britons who have been grounded for a week in Southern Rhodesia. A runner found them alive and well in a native village, but the airplane sent out to find them and to drop them supplies by parachute was unable to locate the group of huts where the couple is stranded. The pilots searched several hours for the spot, then flew back to Gokwe, from which she had taken off.

Church Service Club

The Service Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church will meet with Mrs. E. F. MacFadden, 191 Fair street, at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon, March 8, after which to attend the meeting of the World's Day of Prayer to be held this year in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Cars will be provided.

Capture Convict.

Dowagiac, Mich., March 6 (AP).—Russell Allen Austin, 23-year-old former convict sought for the alleged abduction of Dorothea Emmons at South Bend, Ind., yesterday was taken into custody by officers here today when they found him asleep in an automobile.

Legion Auxiliary Supper

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Kingston Post, American Legion, will hold a cafeteria supper at the Memorial Building, Tuesday evening, March 12, from 5 to 8 o'clock. The patronage of the public is solicited.

Roosevelt Says the U.S. Loses in Holmes' Death

Washington, March 6 (AP).—President Roosevelt issued a statement today saying that the nation "has lost one of its first citizens" in the death of Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Expressing the personal sorrow of himself and Mrs. Roosevelt, the President said that "the people of America mourn the death of the venerable and beloved justice."

His statement follows: "Oliver Wendell Holmes, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, retired, has left us."

"The nation has lost one of its first citizens."

"We cannot minimize the grief of his passing but we can find solace in the thought that he was with us for so long. His was the life of rare distinction: soldier, scholar, author, teacher, jurist and gallant gentleman, he personified throughout his long career the finest American traditions."

"Endowed with the keen and piercing intellect which was mellowed by kindly humor and understanding, he had a powerful and beneficent influence upon the nation. Imbued with a high sense of justice and right, he believed in the peaceful evolution of the new from the old."

"He had a fine perspective of history as a continuous and living thing and with courage and logic believed in the shaping of government to changing conditions. The people of America mourn the death of the venerable and beloved justice."

"Mrs. Roosevelt and I have had the high privilege of his friendship for many years and our sorrow at his passing is great."

Brown Chosen as Lehman's Secretary

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP).—Governor Herbert H. Lehman announced today the appointment of Walter T. Brown, of Albany, chief of Bureau of the Associated Press for New York state, and his secretary to succeed Joseph J. Canavan.

Governor Lehman said Brown would take office "sometime next week."

Mr. Canavan resigned as secretary to the governor late last year to become a member of the New York State Parole Board.

"I am glad to announce the appointment of Mr. Brown," Governor Lehman said. "I think my selection of him will work out very well."

Brown has been in charge of the Albany Bureau of the Associated Press since 1931. He will be succeeded by Morgan M. Beatty, of the New York city staff of the Associated Press.

The salary of the governor's secretary is $12,000 a year, and he holds office at the pleasure of the governor.

Advocates NRA Be Abandoned

Washington, March 6 (AP).—Complete abandonment of NRA was advocated today by Senator King (D., Utah) in the first statement by a Democratic senator opposing President Roosevelt's recommendation for extension of the Recovery Administration.

King, in an interview, proposed that the jurisdiction of NRA over hours and wages should be transferred to the Labor Department and its regulation of trade practices to the Federal Trade Commission.

"I see no need to continue NRA," King said. The Utah senator has long been critical of the Recovery Administration and tendencies under it which he felt tended toward monopoly.

Severe Earth Shocks

Moradabad, India, March 6 (AP).—Panic-stricken inhabitants were driven from their beds and one infant was injured today by severe earth shocks.

More Arrests Made In Connection With New Paltz Bank Bonds

Chicago, March 6 (AP).—Police sought a third man today after the arrest of Walter Follmer, 33, and Fred La Badera, 34, in connection with the recovery of $25,000 in bonds stolen from the New Paltz, N. Y., Savings Bank last January.

An acquaintance, known to him as "Bob James," gave him the bonds. Follmer asserted, denying participation in the robbery, and authorities searched for the man with the knowledge he had bought a new car recently, giving a $1,000 certified check on a brokerage house.

Follmer was apprehended when police said he posted $3,000 of the bonds as security for a new car.

A term of two years in federal prison was imposed on Follmer yesterday on charges of hijacking interstate shipments, but he was kept in the county jail pending completion of the bank robbery investigation.

Lieut. Edward Kelly of the detective bureau said Follmer and La Badera were not actual participants in the robbery but had been given the bonds to dispose of.

This morning Cleon B. Murray, Ulster county district attorney, told a Freeman reporter that he had received information that two other men had been taken into custody in connection with the theft of the New Paltz bonds, Frank Staples and George Calloksan.

To Give Concert Here

The Epworth League of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will present Miss Christine Carr, charming young harpist, lyric soprano and dramatic reader, in an entertainment Wednesday evening, March 20, in the church auditorium. Supreme Court Case Is Reopened Today

Supreme court reconvened this morning with Justice Russell presiding. The actions brought by Taylor against Walter, growing out of an automobile accident last May between Suffern and Slacksburg, was continued. There are four actions being tried together. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and their daughter, Bloomington residents, seek damages from Walter for personal injuries and damage to their Nash car and in turn Walter seeks damages for repairs to his Ford car which he alleges were caused through negligence of Miss Taylor who was driving her father's car. Walter sues the Taylors and a third party whose car was also mixed up in the accident.

Menu of Cafeteria Supper

The following is the menu for the cafeteria supper to be given by the women of St. John's Episcopal Church at the parish house on Thursday afternoon and evening, beginning at 5:30 o'clock: Vegetable soup, chicken pie, salmon croquettes, mashed and scalloped potatoes, gravy, beans, creamed onions, turnips, salads, wheat and rye bread, pie, cake and other desserts, tea and coffee.

63RD FIREMEN'S CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT GREENPORT

The 63rd convention of the State Firemen's Association will be held this year at Greenport, Suffolk county, on August 26 to 29, according to a notice recently sent out by F. A. Davis, secretary of the association. For some time the officers of the association have been endeavoring to settle on some convenient place on Long Island, where the upstate members might enjoy salt water bathing and fishing while attending the convention and Greenport was finally selected.

B. A. Wainwright Gets A Position in Altoona

Dayley A. Wainwright, in charge of the furniture department of the Kingston Montgomery Ward Co. store for the last two years, was in New York city Tuesday at which time he was informed that he had been transferred to the Ward store in Altoona, Pa. He will have charge of the same department in the Altoona store. The transfer is in the nature of a promotion, since he goes to a city with a population of over 82,000 and the Ward store is much larger than that in Kingston.

Before coming to Kingston in March, 1933, Mr. Wainwright was connected with a number of stores of national reputation, among them the W. & J. Sloane store in New York city and the Marshall Field & Co. store in Chicago, having been with the latter for eight years. He will end his connection with the Kingston store on Saturday and after a day or two in New York will drive to Altoona. The friends Mr. Wainwright has made since coming to Kingston will be sorry to have him leave, but are pleased at his advancement.

Uncle Sam and the Russians have agreed to disagree.

When County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran was ousted by a 17 to 16 vote of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors about a year ago, the Democratic majority of one sent Mr. Loughran from a position which he had held for 26 years, in an appeal to the state's higher courts and it was the opinion of many that this move of the Democrats was purely "politics." The Court of Appeals and the Appellate Division of the State Supreme Court upheld Mr. Loughran and declared that there was no proof of misfeasance or malfeasance in office. Of all the judges who wrote or voted opinions on the case only one, Justice Walter Bliss, agreed with the Ulster County Democratic Supervisors.

Further the Appellate Division in its opinion noticed that the vote on various questions at the ouster hearing "except in a very few instances was a strict party vote."

The Democrats had stated that Mr. Loughran had failed in his job, that he had used his office to improve private property and that numerous other charges made him a thoroughly undesirable person for the position he held. Such was their excuse for bringing the charges.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating and the action Monday evening of a Democratic Assemblyman in introducing a bill designed to abolish the office of county superintendent of highways and create a county highway engineer with almost exactly the same duties shows the Democrats up in a true light—they simply want to get rid of Mr. Loughran because he runs the highway system in this county as a business and not as a political pastime to gain votes.

The Ulster Supervisors had not met after the vindication of Mr. Loughran and prior to the action of introducing the bill to abolish his office. It is thus easy to see that the measure in the state legislature is not one which was requested by the Board of Supervisors, although this slip will be remedied at the next meeting it is supposed, but it was the request of the local Democratic leaders.

The Democratic legislature will undoubtedly give the local party leaders what they desire, yet how they will reconcile that action with the opinion of the voters is yet another question. The local board did not request the action, the local representatives, Assemblyman Conway and Senator Wicks, did not request it—the action will be taken on the request of Democratic leaders. It matters not now that the board may later vote for such action, the damage is already done—a state legislature listens to a small group of political leaders, not the lawmaking body of the county or the duly invested representatives of that county to their own body.

This attempt to oust Mr. Loughran now appears to be successful, but it will cost the County of Ulster about $10,000 according to estimates of political leaders who are in a position to know. So $10,000 which might have been used to give employment to needy families and work to deserving men is the sum which Democrats will take from the taxpayers of Ulster to gratify their desires.

It will be asked, why was not this action taken with the legislature before? If the Democrats wanted to beat Mr. Loughran from his position why did they not do it a year ago? The answer is simply they did not have control of both houses of the legislature a year ago. They would not have been able to do the job a year ago and even the most optimistic Democrat couldn't foresee that his party would so completely control the legislature a year later. So the ouster hearing was brought at a cost of $10,000 and failed. But Lady Luck was with the Democrats in the state legislature and now Mr. Loughran will be deprived of a position he has held for 26 years, a position in which he has made an enviable record among comparative figures of other counties.

It matters not that the courts found Mr. Loughran fitted for his position and holding it with grace, it matters not that the taxpayers of Ulster will have to make up the cost of the proceedings from their own purses to the extent of $10,000, it matters not that the local board had not requested the action at the time the bill was introduced—none of these matter, but politics must rule. Mr. Loughran must be ousted, he was too square and would not play the game. He wanted an efficient highway department, moreover he would not play politics and place the highway department on a huge patronage scheme.

But after all the supervisors are only holding office by grace of the people and these same supervisors must account to them at the next election, and a number of them will undoubtedly not be returned to office to play politics at the cost of $10,000 to taxpayers.

ROYAL LIBERTY.

King Prajadhipok, late of Siam, like Jimmy Walker, late of New York, lingers in England. But unlike the King of Broadway, he is contented. He knows what he wants and he has the money to pay for it.

Prajadhipok got tired of the king business several years ago, and has got tired and tired of it ever since. He wouldn't mind if they'd let him do it in his own way. But the Siamese Parliament, which he himself created, has developed grand ideas and refuses to play second fiddle. There is no fun being King of Siam if the commoners are going to crimp your style.

So little brown Prajadhipok, apparently, is going to stay right where he is, abandoning umbrellas, elephants and all the rest of his royal Siamese trappings. He has found something better. He will live as an English gentleman. And there's method, not madness, in that. The life of an English gentleman is perhaps the freest life in the world.

That Body of Yours

BY
 James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act)
 BEST DAILY INVESTMENT

Just why some writers make light of the value of exercise is hard to understand by those who know anything about it. That body of yours is covered from head to foot with muscles and these muscles were meant to work. In fact your stomach, liver, lungs, heart—all your organs—were constructed as to size and shape to meet the requirements of all these muscles, when these muscles were working.

By using these muscles in exercise or work, you stimulate full, complete, or "normal" action of all the organs of the body. And the gratifying thing about exercise is that every little bit you do adds to your strength, so that you can store up working ability just as you can store money in the bank. The result is that one who has been exercising regularly for years can maintain his strength and "limberness" by a few minutes exercise daily.

A wonderful example of how a body that has been exercising regularly can get along on a few minutes daily was shown by the strong man Sandow—strongest man in the world—whose stage act did not last more than fifteen minutes. He took no other exercise.

We find also professional wrestlers, spending no time whatever in "training" because the bouts in which they engage three times a week keep them in perfect condition.

In France 21 army officers were put under intensive training for 6 weeks. The first effect noted was an increase in weight in 15 of the 21. The better functioning or working of the tissues and organs of the body was followed by a decrease in the wastes in the blood which was especially noticeable in the case of those whose wastes were above normal before the training began.

There isn't any question but that outdoor games or sports give most enjoyment and are most invigorating, but weather, time, or circumstances may interfere with outdoor exercise.

The thought then is that where strenuous exercise can be obtained this offers a "regular" opportunity. But even at home ten minutes "stretching" exercises with knees straight, and a walk of a mile or more daily, will make your liver, heart, kidneys and other organs do more effective work—strengthen the body, clarify the blood, clear the brain.

Ulster Misses American Money.
 Belfast (AP)—Remittances sent by emigrants from Northern Ireland in America to the folks at home dropped sharply last year. Registered letters passing through Gullagh were totaled only 2,857 compared to 5,225 in 1932. The decrease has been felt severely in many homes where American money orders were the chief source of existence.

It is the custom now to laugh at the bathing suits worn 20 years ago, but if the present trend keeps up, in thirty years there won't be any bathing suits to laugh at.

GREAT RICHES
 by Mattel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stimson, III, is a perfectly good little boy who has the misfortune to be brought up among dotting grandparents and aunts and family friends in New Concord, N. H. None is more dotting than black Aunt Lou who just has explained that James either went to join the boy's mother in a very handsomely furnished heaven because the mother "carried on" so that those in charge had to send for the father to quit her!

Chapter Three
 JUDGE HOLCOMB

"I SHOULD think mother'd carry on a little longer until He sent for me, too," said James practically.

"I told you it wouldn't be man-ners," Aunt Lou replied. "And snny ways how could I and your grand-ma and your Aunt Sarey git along with-out no little boy in the house?"

"But I'd come back and visit you, often and often. Honest I would."

Aunt Lou explained that anyone allowed the great privilege of entering Heaven was never permitted to depart. "Cepting a corpse the Devil, and you know what happened to him."

Sitting at the kitchen table with his face cupped in his small hands James decided after mature deliberaeration that it would be impossible to go and live with his father and mother. Grandmother could not get along without him and he could not get along without Grandmother.

But being a little boy and an imaginative little boy with few play-mates he naturally had to have a hero to look up to and worship. Up to now it had been Lancelot. Suddenly his dead father sprang to life and pushed Lancelot off the pedestal.

James decided that he too would be a doctor. He told Aunt Lou so and she admitted that doctoring, next to preaching, was the highest calling on earth.

With Aunt Lou's assistance James worked out the belief that his father held the position of court physician extraordinary to the Lord God on High. They agreed, however, that his father doctor also took care of the sick angels in his spare moments and especially of the little boy angels who had eaten too much "embrosial" ice cream.

James, however, found it wiser not to discuss the delightful state in which his father dwelt with his grandmother and grandfather or even with Aunt Sarah. Aunt Sarah was somewhat shocked, feeling vaguely that it was irreverent, and his grandmother cried a little when he mentioned it to her.

Even his grandfather, though he listened politely, changed the subject as soon as he decently could. Grandfather always changed the subject when Father was mentioned by anyone except Grandmother.

JAMES was an engagingly homely little boy with bright carrotty red hair, wide apart gray eyes with gold lashes, and a wide band of brown freckles straight across his rather nice little nose.

But in spite of all that was afterwards claimed for him he was in no way an unusual child except that he had a rather remarkable memory. He remembered people by name even if he had met them most casually and could repeat quite long poems word for word after they had been read to him once or twice.

However, he was only seven or eight and his gift of memory hardly remarked upon when Judge Hol-

SOUTH RONDOUT

South Rondout, March 6.—The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. Church will meet this evening at the home of Mrs. Josephine Hotelling. Prayer services during the Lenten season will be resumed, and held in the M. E. Church on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All are welcome.

Curtis Clair continues ill and is under the care of Dr. Fred Holcomb of Kingston.
 Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Clair were tendered an old fashioned skimmington by the youngsters of the village on last Tuesday evening.
 Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Haines and daughter, Mrs. Robert Huntley have left Miami, Fla., and are enjoying a stay at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Rev. C. W. Smith of Conneaut was a recent guest of friends in the village.
 Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schleightner and son, Franklin, of Boreo street, Port Ewen, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyder on Friday evening.

Talks to Parents

The Supreme Egotist

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
 Every parent of sixteen- and seventeen-year old girls is inclined to think that he or she is facing special problems. Susan or Mary or Alice is an exception. No other girl answers back so often, or has such violent fits of temper, or is quite so rebellious against restraint.

And yet, if these parents compared notes, they would find that they were all up against pretty much the same situation, some, of course, in more aggravated form than others, and some back would learn to their surprise that their parents and grandparents had been in the same boat.

To seventeen and eighteen, middle age seems stodgy and unenterprising. Fathers and mothers are too old to remember the dreams of youth, too cautious to understand its longing for romance and adventure. To talk of protecting a girl seems out of date.

Juliet was an example of this point of view. No one but she knew love, and death was preferable to life on any terms but her own.

The girl of seventeen and eighteen is the supreme egotist. Life begins and ends with her. Incredible that one can ever grow old, ever lose the abounding vitality and ambition of the present. In her effort to escape from the fetters of home and parental care, she strikes out blindly, and seems callous to all the dictates of love and reason.

During these years a girl is better off away from home. College, school, a job, a trip abroad, anything is preferable to the constant struggle of parents and daughters against each other in the narrow confines of four walls. Only unflinching love and understanding from the parents can help. But it may comfort parents to know they are not alone in misery. "Everyone is doing it."

Pulling To Safety

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WITH strength such as Rip did not know he had, he pulled Sweet Face over the hot floor and out of the door 3-6 to safety.

And just as he had accomplished this tremendous thing the building collapsed.

Rip had rescued Sweet Face just in time. "I have him here," breathed Rip, hardly knowing what he was saying. And now a great weakness came over him. His body pained with burns, his eyes smarted, his throat was full of smoke, but all of these were mixed up in his thoughts which were becoming less and less clear.

"He—was—there—all—the—time." Rip fell over. "I'll get them back to the house," cried Willy Nilly. "Run for the liniment, Mrs. Quacko, and get out the old soft bandages and everything. You, Quick-Dick, and Fire Chief Quacko stay here and see that the fire is out so it will not spread."

Willy Nilly lifted Rip up into his arms and hurried to the house with him. Then he rushed back and carried Sweet Face, the lamb, to his house too.

Sweet Face was the first to open his eyes. "Am I alive, bleat, bleat?" asked the lamb.

"Rip rescued you," said Willy Nilly.

Now Rip spoke: "I've got to get him. Let me go! I know he is there! I feel sure of it. Let me go." Rip tried to jump out of Willy Nilly's arms.

"He doesn't know what he's saying," Willy Nilly cried.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—When Michigan's youthful and handsome junior senator, Arthur H. Vandenberg, survived the democratic landslide of '34, politicians immediately began talking of him as the outstanding candidate for the republican nomination for president in '36.

For one thing, he is a polished out. He was strategically located. His record in the senate was in his favor. He had arisen to the place where he was considered one of the leaders among the younger men in his party in the senate.

Most important, however, from a political standpoint, was the fact he was the only republican senator in the '34 campaign to run on a platform of 50-50 approval of the "new deal."

Vandenberg was the man, politicians and political commentators agreed, to refashion the G. O. P. into a mildly liberal affair; something which must be done if the party is to survive.

Eyed By Democrats

VANDENBERG returned to his seat in the present congress, therefore, a marked man. More than any other senator on the sparsely populated republican side of the senate chamber—not even excepting McNary, titular leader—he was watched by democratic leaders.

The first six weeks of the session Vandenberg gave the democrats little opportunity to train their guns on him. He more or less was forced into voting for American adherence to the world court after the democrats accepted his reservation. Although he joined with Nye of North Dakota in sponsoring the senate investigation into the munitions industry, when Nye was made chairman of the committee Vandenberg was forced into the position of playing second fiddle.

When the President's five-billion dollar work-relief plan reached the senate, however, Michigan's junior senator struck out in his own right. He took the floor of the senate to denounce in no uncertain terms the proposed plan and demanded drastic changes.

It was exactly what the democratic high command long had awaited. Their big artillery moved into action and the Michigan senator was subjected to some very severe shelling.

Pestered By Heckling

BLACK of Alabama, Byrnes of South Carolina, Wagner of New York—to mention only a few—heckled, derided and pestered Vandenberg for days.

His speech was openly characterized as Vandenberg's platform for president. Reference was made to his reelection last year and Byrnes caustically observed, "It is rather generally believed that had not the senator so addressed the people of Michigan there would have been a little more room for the miniature golf course that could be built on the other side of the chamber at this time."

Vandenberg took his razing with outward good nature. Classroom gossip has it, however, that privately it didn't set so well with him.

Political observers are waiting to see what effect it will have on his actions in the future.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, March 5.—A group of 15 was present at Sunday school afternoon, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Shepard Bell.

A most inspiring lesson under the direction of Mrs. Thompson was enjoyed by all present. Sunday school will be held next Sunday as usual at one o'clock, at the church basement.

Prayer meeting will be held Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Cornelia Davis of West Shokan Heights at 7:30 o'clock.

The west side sapping season is on. Judge Fred L. Weidner, local large scale syrup maker, started tapping his bush Monday. The judge puts out in the neighborhood of 600 buckets. Saturday and Sunday were banner sap days but Mr. Weidner allowed that the season is still young, and anyway he customarily refrains from Sunday work.

Chester Lyons, the genial rotund Ashokan Chevrolet dealer, delivered a new 1935 model to a Stone Ridge customer on Monday. Among other recent reported purchasers are Eddie Morris and John Tooman, popular members of the Department of Water Supply force. One evening last week Mr. Lyons showed the 1935 Chevrolet in the making through the medium of a series of stereopticon views to a large and interested gathering at the Lester S. Davis Main street store.

John Henriksen of Main street had a quantity of firewood saved on Saturday.

Marvin Van Demark, the veteran logger, is giving his neighbor, E. C. Davis, a hand cutting firewood.

Robert Burgher entertained a group of his schoolmates on Saturday.

Mrs. James Burgher, the comely junior Maple Dell hostess, left Sunday for a visit among their summer folks living in and about the metropolis. Mrs. Burgher is expected to be away ten days or longer.

After spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Davis of Main street, Miss Helen Lohr has returned to her home in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Weidner were patrons at the entertainment and dance given Friday evening at the Phoenixia I. O. O. F. Hall.

Roy Palen and friend, William Kurts, of Peekskill, C.C.C. Camp, spent the week-end with his parents at Broadhead.

Cornelius Millington of New Jersey has been spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barber of Main street.

Mrs. Bertha Thompson and daughter, Helen, attended church services at Olive Bridge on Sunday morning.

Frances Whipple, member of the Boiceville C.C.C. Camp, has purchased an Oldsmobile through the Lyons agency at Ashokan.

Mrs. Sheppard Bell was a caller at the home of Mrs. Watson Bishop and Mrs. Chase Davis on Sunday afternoon.

A local group of young people enjoyed a sleigh-riding party at the home of Miss Cornelia Davis on Saturday.

The Olive Rebekahs are scheduled to observe Past Grand Night in conjunction with the regular meeting on Thursday evening of this week at Olive Bridge I. O. O. F. Hall.

James Bush, the well known department of water supply engineer, and popular town committeeman, is reported having replaced his Model A Ford with one of the latest De Luxe V-8 jobs through the Haver agency at Ashokan.

All learn with much regret that John Davis of the east side is in an extremely critical condition at one of the Kingston hospitals.

Foreign propaganda and foreign activity in the United States as well as European propaganda against the United States in Latin America deserves serious consideration and some protective action. Let us not wait until it is too late.

The World of STAMPS

By QUINTON JAMES

This time it is Switzerland which gets first position stamp honors. What amounts to two new sets have come from that country.

One group, consisting of three items, is an entirely new design for the country's franchise stamps. The stamps are distributed to numerous institutions and charitable organizations for franking purposes, thus in effect giving them free postage.

In place of the coat of arms decoratively impressed upon an Alpine scene, illustrations of individuals are used in one color instead of two. The five-centime has the head of a nurse, the 10 violet a nun and the 24 red pictures Jean Henri Dunant, Swiss author, philanthropist and founder of the Red Cross society.

Some of the stamps have control numbers overprinted on the face in black.

The other "set" comprises the creation of a new airpost value to meet a change in rates. Two types of airpost are used, both bearing the overprint "16" with three parallel bars over the old denomination, 15 centimes in each case.

One stamp is the 15-centime deep green and light green of the dismemberment issue of 1922 and the other is the 15-centime brown red and apple green of the 1923 printing.

World News

The four-hundredth anniversary celebration of the founding of the city of Lima has been made the occasion for some more new stamps from Peru. The nine values are divided between postage and airmail. Five being for regular letters and the others for air posting. Scenes connected with the city's history as well as modern views are pictured.

A new printing of the special stamp issued to the use of the British forces in Egypt for mail sent back home to England has a drawing of the Sphinx and is inscribed "British Forces in Egypt—Letter Stamp." The value is one piaster. This year the color is green, while last it was carmine rose.

Three values of the 1918-19 newspaper issue, imperf. of Czechoslovakia have been overprinted "O. T." for use by commercial firms only. They are 10, 20 and 30 halers.

Before the creation of the Dominion of Canada, stamps of Canada from 1851 and 1855 were printed in the monetary unit of Great Britain. In 1858 this was changed to cents and dollars.

In the earlier issues of U. S. stamps the Roman numeral X was used to indicate the ten-cent value in addition to the notation "ten cents."

The "winged wheel" surcharge used by Belgium to create special stamps to be used in franking the official correspondence of the Belgian National railways, has been employed again in two instances.

This time the surcharge is in red. One of the new 70-centime value of the King Leopold type and the other the 34-centime Hermes type of the issue of 1922.

New Air Value
 To provide a replacement for the overprinted 10-cent recently created airmail stamp of the Dutch colony of Curacao another color has been added to the set which appeared in 1921.

It follows an identical design—that of an allegorical figure of flight—like the others the 10-centime square, but the color is light blue. At the time the surcharge, which was a 20 red with the surcharge "16" appeared, the explanation was offered that it might develop into a modern rarity due to the fact that only a few of them were so printed.

What Congress Is Doing Today

(By The Associated Press)

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The World Day of Prayer, in which the Protestant Churches of Kingston will participate, will be held, this year, at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 355 Hasbrouck avenue (between Foxhall avenue and East Chester street).

"Not alone do the Christian Churches of Kingston unite on this day in prayer and meditation, but throughout the entire world, the followers of our Lord and Saviour, unite in spirit, to thank and praise God and to ask His help that the world may be brought to acknowledge Christ as their personal Saviour," said the Rev. Paul M. Young, pastor of the host church.

The service will be in charge of a representative from each of the Protestant Churches of Kingston.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, March 6.—The party to be given for members of the Minstrel Show had to be postponed last week but is now planned for the evening of Thursday, March 14. The location will be the same as originally planned, the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church.

On Friday the Women's Missionary Society of the Dutch Reformed Church will observe the World's Day of Prayer at the parsonage.

Paul LeMay conducted the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Saturday. The large trees in front of Peper's garage have been chopped down.

The Rev. Harvey I. Todd delivered a sermon at the House for the Aged in Kingston on Sunday. The service took place at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Simpkins sang two songs, "Ninety and Nine" and "Just as I Am." About 12 people from Woodstock attended the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Doremus had as week-end guests Mr. and Mrs. Ray Flemmerfeldt of Margaretville. Saturday evening they held a three table bridge for their guests. The six couples were Mr. and Mrs. Flemmerfeldt, Dr. and Mrs. Cranston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Engels, Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Doremus and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Huty. Prizes for the women were won by Mrs. Cranston and Mrs. Flemmerfeldt; those for the men by Dr. Cranston and Fred Allen.

Jimmy Cohn spent Sunday in Woodstock returning to New York on Monday. On Saturday John D. Miller of Shady was in Woodstock to celebrate his 99th birthday with friends. Bruce Douglas returned with a new Ford from a week-end in Connecticut.

Stone Ridge, March 6.—On Monday evening of last week Mrs. Virgil Wagar was given a birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Peck, of East Kingston. The guests were Mrs. Mary Maran, Miss Pauline Sulko, Mrs. Lena Perry, Frances Maran, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Feldman, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Osterhout, Miss Reta Peck, Miss Mary Moran, Mr. and Mrs. John Peck, Virgil Wagar, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wagar, Sr. The evening was spent in playing games. Delicious refreshments including a beautiful birthday cake were served. The guests departed wishing Mrs. Wagar many happy returns of her birthday.

Mrs. Acton Petersen, who has been a guest at the Jacobsen home for several weeks, has returned to her home in Brooklyn. Mrs. Ervin Schoonmaker attended a card party at High Falls on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Oswald Jacobsen and Arnold Jacobsen were Sunday guests of Mrs. Anna Nilssen.

The Builders' Guild wish to express thanks to all who helped to make a success of the baked ham supper which they gave on Thursday evening for the general expenses of the church. The tables were beautifully decorated with carnations, tulips, hyacinths and cineraria, which were donated by Burgevin's, the florists of Kingston. The 17th and 18th century costumes in which many of the guests were dressed were much admired. While Mrs. L.

D. Sahler played the piano march those in costume marched several times around the room. The judges were Miss Sarah Lounsbury and Mrs. M. Hasbrouck. Miss Lounsbury announced that all the costumes were so beautiful it was difficult to make a choice but after much deliberation had decided that the first adult prize be awarded to Miss Julia Hasbrouck. She received a box of handkerchiefs. The second prize, a cherry pie, was given to Mrs. Roscoe Lockwood. The first prize for children was a box of chocolate coated cherries and awarded to Emma Lou Clark. Conrad Strivings received second prize which was a cherry pie. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing various interesting games.

The undernourished school children are again being supplied daily with a fine grade of milk from De Witt Jensen.

The community was shocked on Monday to hear of the sudden death of Fred Staudermann of Kingston from pneumonia. Mr. Staudermann married Miss Dessie Krom, who lived in Stone Ridge before moving to Kingston. Deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Miss Jane Trowbridge of Kingston spent the week-end with relatives in this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Christiana of Olive Bridge and J. V. Merrihew and Miss Edna Merrihew of Kingston were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Bishop.

Thursday evening the church night service will be held at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Roscoe Strivings. During the choir rehearsal period the pastor will meet with the membership class. All desirous of joining the church or of learning more about its work are invited to join the class.

The fourth quarterly conference of the M. E. Churches of Accord, Kripplebush, Atwood and Stone Ridge will be held at the Stone Ridge M. E. Church Friday, March 8, at 7:30 p. m. Official members of all four churches are expected to be present and all the people of the churches are invited to attend. Dr. P. C. Weyant, district superintendent, will preside and speak. Those who have already heard Dr. Weyant know the spiritual treat that is in store for them.

Mr. and Mrs. DeForest Bishop entertained Mrs. Edna Kennedy of Kingston on Sunday night.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, March 6.—The Rev. and Mrs. J. Thoburn Legg attended the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church in New York city. Tuesday evening. Mr. Legg was the assistant pastor of St. Paul's Church for three years before coming to Port Ewen.

Mr. and Mrs. William Yesse spent Sunday with Mrs. Yesse's mother at her home in Newburgh. Dart baseball will be played in the Reformed Church Hall this evening between the Men's Club and St. James Club of Kingston.

The pot luck dinner which the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church was to have at the home of Mrs. George Vincent Thursday noon, has been postponed until Friday noon. The business meeting will be held at 2:30 Friday afternoon.

Mrs. William Yesse, of South Broadway, who on Friday evening held her annual card party at West Park for the benefit of the Women's Guild of Ascension Church, wishes to thank all those who helped in any way to make the card party such a huge success both financially and socially.

The Dorcas Society will hold a card party in the Reformed Church Hall Thursday evening, March 14. The public is invited. There will be refreshments.

ASHOKAN

SHOKAN

Shokan, March 5.—H. D. Blanshan of Kingston and C. H. Stokes of Kerhonkson were numbered among the recent callers in the hub of the reservoir country.

George D. Burgher of Brooklyn is sojourning at the popular Longyear House in the west end of the village. Herbert Ross and family have removed to the farm house of Abel North in the Accorn Hill neighborhood. The Rosses since last summer have resided with Mrs. Elizabeth Every, the mother of Mrs. Ross. Mrs. Every has sold her Shokan place to out of town people and is now making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Gollman, in Ashokan.

Jack Dodge, well known painter and baseball player, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmdorf.

New maple syrup, made in Shokan, has been placed on sale at the corner store. New syrup on pancakes is esteemed as a great treat at this season of the year.

Earl Kira, a former Shokan boy, motored here from his home in Port Jervis Sunday and called on some of his old friends. Mr. Kira has recently recovered from an illness of several weeks.

Baptiste Nadal of the Heights section is having a successful season with his pullets and hens. Mr. Nadal, a retired New York city restaurateur and present owner of the John Weeks farm, has been getting plenty of eggs right along this winter.

Work done by the CCC men at Camp No. 2, Boiceville, during one and one-half years, includes five vehicular bridges constructed; three miles of ski trails constructed; 250,000 feet of cable foot bridge constructed; five acres of land cleared for public camps; seven miles of storm-damaged highways made passable; one lookout tower built on Slide Mountain, and 37.5 miles of trail improved. All this work, of course, in addition to the woodmen's gypsy moth scouting, tree planting and various other duties. Such labor on a grand scale has not been seen here since reservoir construction days.

Charles Green is building an addition onto his feed mill in the village center in order to care for his growing grist business.

Elections and majorities at the Olive town meeting held March 4, 1935, were as follows: Supervisor, William V. N. Bolce (Rep.), 58; clerk, Henry K. Merrihew (Dem.), 87; justice of the peace, Jeremiah Matthews; commissioner of highways, C. H. Sarles (Rep.), 15; assessors, Alonzo G. Davis, 189, and John Davis, 12. Of these gentlemen Mr. Matthews was the father of Frank B. Matthews of Kingston, and Mr. Bolce was the father of the late Hewitt and Peter Bolce of Kingston. Mrs. Alfred Didier returned to her home in Flushing last week after having spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rensselaer Longyear. Mrs. Didier as Miss Lillian Longyear, graduated from Brookside School in the old village of Shokan.

John Davis, III for several weeks of a heart ailment, was removed to a Kingston sanitarium last week. Mr. Davis's condition, reported as serious, showed a slight improvement on Sunday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church planned to hold an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Golden VanBenschoten on Wednesday of this week. The forenoon will be spent in cutting material for quilts for the August fair. The remaining unsold quilt from last year's fair recently was sold for the aid by a New York city woman.

Shokan holds second place in the Freeman's Olive circulation list, being ranked only by Olive Bridge. Reckoning four readers to each of Olive's 136 subscriptions is considered by some as too low a figure, several cases being known where the members of two or three families enjoy the same copy of this popular rural paper. A return to normalcy will doubtless see the Freeman's circulation nearly doubled in these parts.

Alex. Hamilton of the Tonche Mountain road still is unable to work on account of poor health, though he is able to get out of doors occasionally.

Mr. Story, who has led a retired life in Watson Hollow for the past several years, is now residing at the farm of Abel North in the lower part of Olive. Mr. Story is a brother of Robert K. Story, a New York city business man and member of the summer colony here.

Members Roseweil and Griffin of Co. 215, C. C. C., have volunteered as instructors, respectively, in geometry and radio at the evening classes held at Camp 2. Instructions in practical electricity also are given by Member Palmer. Courses in typewriting, code practice and the piano are now available to the local woodsmen.

Norval Fortson, who is connected with the publication of the American Weekly in New York city, came to Shokan last Friday to inspect his country home on the mountain road. Mr. Fortson, while in Shokan, expressed himself as greatly pleased with the improvements being made to his place by North Brothers, the remodeling contractors.

Elder Arnold H. Bellows, pastor of the Olive-Hurley Baptist Church, came down from Roxbury Sunday to conduct preaching services in the church here. The high wind prevailing in the reservoir country Sunday doubtless deterred many out of town communicants from attending the services.

Marvin Green, village center farmer, has invested in maple syrup making equipment and has started operations in this line.

The Rev. August Pfau, at the preaching services in the Shokan Reformed Church Sunday morning, took his text from Romans, 12. The Rev. Mr. Pfau preaches at the Mt. Tremper church before conducting the services here on Sunday mornings.

Shokan friends of Floyd Weeks, Kingston grocer, were sorry to learn of his misfortune in being held up and robbed Saturday night. Mr. Weeks, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Weeks, formerly resided in the house now owned by Albert Wallerstein of Brooklyn.

Mrs. Edward Leyder sustained severe bruises as a result of a fall on the ice near her home last week. The ice was very bad in some spots until Sunday when the thaw made for improved walking conditions.

March 4, 1888, Doctors Hull, Dart, Fraker and Ostrander amputated a leg of Sylvan Hill after the latter had been injured in the gristmill of Charles L. Howk in the old village. Young Hill died on the 22nd and his funeral was held the following day in the M. E. Church, the Rev. Mr. Keogan, pastor, officiating.

Now that the winter's accumulation of snow has receded from around the fruit trees, some damage is noted from rabbits, though cases of gnawed and girdled trunks are more in evidence among the wild apple trees, along old fence rows and in pastures, than with the cultivated varieties.

Ramon Nadal of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Nadal. Mr. Nadal, who is employed in the office of a Poughkeepsie road construction firm, reports that business is good in his line of work.

The annual clay-bank slide at Hogsback shows increasing signs of functioning. Each year this local harbinger of spring appears at the site of the DuBois stone tavern of four-horse stagecoach days, causing stones and boulders to roll down onto the ridge and state roads. It is a repetition, in miniature, of the antics of the famous Boiceville dugway of pre-reservoir days and decades.

The Bridge Club meets this week on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Adsit. The meeting last week at Mrs. Saml Nadal's was attended by ten members. Refreshments of fruit tapoca pudding, honey buns, tea and coffee were served by Mrs. Nadal on this occasion.

M. Tremper of Margaretville, star route mail carrier between Kingston and Delaware county, has kept pretty close to his schedule this winter, having been slightly delayed on only one or two mornings by extreme weather conditions up the Esopus valley.

Dr. Hans J. Cohn, local medic, is a busy practitioner these days, both with office calls and numerous trips to the several communities in the reservoir country. The trip to Samsonville, once the most flourishing village in the Catskill mountains, where the doctor has a serious case at the present time, was a bugbear to Shokan physicians in horse and buggy days.

Department of Water Supply trucks continue to haul chestnut cordwood to the Ashokan yards of the Central railroad, where a great quantity of the wood has been ranked up for shipment to the city.

The friends and neighbors of Joseph H. DeWitt are glad to see this rugged west end citizen out of doors again. "Joe" has been quite bad off with a heart condition but now is feeling much better. Several friends, knowing Mr. DeWitt to be an omnivorous reader of historical works, have sent him literature of this kind during his confinement this winter. Mr. DeWitt, several of whose forebears were officers in the Continental army, is especially conversant with Revolutionary War facts and figures, and in addition can recite many bits of verse pertinent to our early struggle for independence.

Most farmers appear to have halved their fodder in February despite the cold spells during January. Contributing factors to this favorable condition were late fall pasture and an abundance of corn stover. On the other hand, the almost prohibitive prices of dairy rations and other ground feeds has forced many farmers to keep the pitchfork moving pretty steadily all winter. However, in the event of an early spring, the situation promises to be much better than was the case last year.

Home Construction Provides Work

New Orleans, La.—With the beginning of home construction throughout the country of which various thorough researches by governmental and private agencies have found an actual and pressing need, and which undoubtedly will start as soon as adequate financial facilities are provided, work will be available to many thousands of unemployed, according to a statement by H. C. Berckes, secretary-manager Southern Pine Association.

The following figures showing the division of labor hours in the construction of a $5,000 home were compiled by the "American Lumberman" and published in a recent issue: Excavating, 50; grading, 32; bricklayers, 73; hod carriers and cement finishers, 106; carpenters, 420; plasterers, 56; roofing, sheet metal and spouting, 32; plumbing, 80; wiring and fixture hangers, 32; painting, 102; furnace installers, 32.

The cost of materials in a $5,000 home at current prices in an Ohio city, is estimated at $3,049, divided as follows: Lumber and millwork, $1,800; masonry, brick, tile, cement, sand, etc., $211; roofing and sheet metal, $100; plaster, $168; plumbing fixtures, $280; furnace, $150; paint, $85; hardware, $65; wire and fixtures, $80; decorations, $30; landscaping, $50; screens, $40; coal chute and miscellaneous iron, $10. It has been estimated that in every home built 78.47 per cent of every dollar goes for labor, $4.35 per cent of it being spent at the site, 20.68 per cent to job material and dealers' expenses, 7.33 to manufacturing labor costs and 4.09 to transportation labor.

Perhaps by staying out of the World Court, Uncle Sam will be able to help decide who got a chunk knocked off his shoulder in Africa.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL— And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sore and sick and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out ten pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Feet ache and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these ten pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, acting when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't take for true pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's substitute. 25c at drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

Tips on How and What to Improve

Replace Old Plumbing

The bathroom today is as important as the living room. Old plumbing fixtures, such as a tub or lavatory with chipped enamel and leaking faucets, and a closet with a high tank, make an unfavorable impression on guests or prospective tenants and purchasers.

"Daylight" Sales Aid

Merchandise sells best when it is efficiently lighted so that it is attractive, but not deceptive. It has been stated that food, above all other merchandise, sells better when lighting simulates daylight. Clothing, dry goods, and stroller merchandise also sell better under this type of light.

Paint Window Edges

Painting the edges of storm windows and doors, as well as the flat surfaces, besides adding to their attractiveness and beauty, protect them from deterioration by retarding the absorption of moisture which may cause them to swell and stick. Moisture-resistant paints are usually preferred for this purpose.

KINGSTON, N. Y.Show Owners How to Place Light Outlets

A nation-wide movement is now in progress to acquaint the users of electrical appliances and fixtures with the proper locations for outlets, brought about by the rapid increase in the use of such home conveniences throughout the country.

Exhibits giving emphasis to the proper distribution and convenience of outlets are being prepared by electrical leagues and institutes in many sections, a graphic example of which is the display established by the Washington Electrical Institute.

More Outlets Needed

Investigation in many localities has revealed the fact that, while the use of electricity and electric appliances covers the past half century, the advances of the past two or three years require individual adjustment in the home to fully realize on the new advantages. It is maintained that only through proper installation can the home owner gain maximum advantages out of the many electrical labor-saving and health devices that flood the market. Radios, floor lamps, refrigerators, home lighting have brought in their wake a need for modernization of outlets to give greatest efficiency, experts aver.

Eliminate Cords

Modern outlet location should take into consideration any placing of the furniture rather than a fixed arrangement. The elimination of unsightly lengths of cord is desirable in all circumstances. On front porches, the house number should be lighted so that it may be visible from the curb. Control switches for porch lighting are preferably inside installations. Similar problems are constantly presenting themselves in living rooms, dining rooms, kitchens and in any room where modern lighting or appliances are utilized.

These suggestions are the result of investigations by lighting experts, who further maintain that the placing of outlets under guidance of electrical experts is a phase of home gain the close attention of all home modernization and repair that should owners.

NEW ROOF ON OLD
ADDS TO INSULATION

When replacing an existing shingle roof, a saving may be effected by re-roofing directly on top of the old material. In addition to the elimination of the cost of tearing off the old shingles, other advantages exist. The roof will be stiffer. Insulation value will be increased. Dirt, both inside and out, will be avoided.

Any roofing material not of excessive weight such as wood or composition shingles may be used. The roof is prepared for the job by nailing down loose shingles, splitting and nailing curled shingles, replacing missing shingles. Cut away the shingles for about two inches on all edges of the roof and replace by wooden strips. This will give a good finish and a solid nailing surface.

Nail the shingles in the usual manner, using about five penny nails, large headed, copper or zinc coated. These will be long enough to pass through the old roof.

Boys Like Desk In Room.

Even the very small boy wants a desk in his own room. He feels very important with one of his own. If he has used a child's desk until he is about 14, a table-top desk would be an excellent birthday gift for him. Above it should be hung his bookshelves. If a place is provided for his books in his own room, he will not be disarranging the shelves in the living room so often. The room for the boy, like the one for the girl, is not complete without its lounging chair. Into the boy's room may be brought one of the chairs now so frequently seen in the shops, upholstered in a rough, unfinished material of bright strong colors.

Basement Can Be Family Pride and Joy

This suburban Chicago basement is making the owner's friends green with envy. Walls and ceilings are finished with cane fiber insulating board, creating a handsome, individualized interior. The insulation also counteracts basement chill.

By JANET ALLEN

IF you want to make your friends green with envy, fix up your basement to look like one I recently saw in Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

From the simple but handsomely furnished lounge room, with its big fireplace and built-in bookcases, to the furnace room, the entire basement exemplifies the modern trend toward making below-stairs space as pleasant and livable as the upper floors.

Basement Chill Banished

Remi J. Gitz, owner of the home, has given first consideration to comfort and warmth. The chill dampness common in basements has been counteracted by lining walls and ceilings with Celotex cane fiber insulating board, which does double duty by also serving as interior finish.

On the ceiling of the lounge room, the board is grooved into 24-inch squares, creating a tiled effect. On the walls, a random plank wainscoting extends about five and one-half feet above the floor. The plank effect is achieved by vertical grooving of the board.

The top of the wainscoting is bordered by a four-inch molding strip of the same material. This molding also is used around doors and windows. Above the wainscoting, the walls are finished with plain insulating board.

To round out the decorative scheme, the doors are faced with the same material grooved in simple patterns, and the utility pipes, which otherwise would mar the room's appearance, are boxed in.

The furnace room is decorated more simply. The ceiling is finished in large panels of cane fiber board, divided by broad molding strips. The wainscoting is of Celotex tile board (also insulating), finished at the top with molding strips. The utility pipes are enclosed.

Light Colored Walls

All basement walls and ceilings are painted in light shades to take maximum advantage of the small amount of daylight available through restricted window areas. The floors are hardwood, laid and finished in the customary manner.

Basement rooms finished in this manner are ideal for recreation—ping pong or billiards for adults or play space for children. Simpler finishing treatments may be used, if desired, so long as warmth and dryness are assured.

SAFETY GATES AVERT
CHILDREN'S INJURY.

A folding or swinging gate installed at the top landing of stairs is an excellent, inexpensive investment in any home where small children romp and play, the Federal Housing Administration is informed. It is a protective measure against falls down stairs. Such falls often result in death or injuries which may cripple children for life.

Likewise, where children play on a lower floor, a gate may be installed at the foot of the stairs to prevent the children from climbing them and then falling.

Stair gates, according to information supplied the Federal Housing Administration, are exceptionally important where small children play on porches, and inside of the home where there are open stairways to the basement and between the ground and upper floors.

The gates may be attractively painted to match the adjoining woodwork.

Unpainted Furniture

Unpainted wood furniture should be sandpapered lightly, primed with a paint consisting of three parts wall primer to one part of turpentine, and finished with two or more coats of some high grade enamel or lacquer.

James A. Moffett, federal housing administrator, in a recent address asserted: "We need five million new homes in this country as soon as they can be built."

ATTIC CONVERTED
EASILY TO ROOM.

Many a home has an unseen room tucked between the attic rafters or in some wasted space in the basement.

If it is in the attic, a little building board, wall paper, paint and varnish will develop it charmingly, and the newly discovered room will help insulate the house. Such additional insulation, it has been found, saves from 30 to 40 per cent of the fuel bill, and will pay for itself shortly right out of savings from the coal pile or oil supply.

A wasted basement corner may be turned into a recreation or "rumpus" room with a partition wall, and some colored concrete, concrete ashlar, stucco or cement plaster and a small amount of paint and decoration.

Floor Lessens Noise.

A sound-deadening flooring made up of a combination insulation and sound absorption base and a linoleum or rubber covering is a new product which promises to make apartment house life more agreeable. This flooring is said to be soft underfoot, warm in winter, cool in summer, easy to clean, and a resistant to moisture. The base is a chemically treated material which is covered with rubber or linoleum made in a wide variety of colorings. This flooring, which is made in sheets of various sizes, is cemented or nailed to the sub-floor or over an old floor.

HEAT LOSS SOURCES
MUST BE CONSIDERED

Four sources of heat loss—the roof, glass of the windows, cracks around doors and windows and faulty chimneys—must be given serious consideration if a satisfactory temperature is to be maintained throughout.

The roof loss is unquestionably the largest, but on the other hand is the easiest to remedy. Insulation is not only the proper solution but will in a few winters, pay for itself in fuel saving.

Infiltration and leakage around the doors and windows can be satisfactorily combated by weatherstripping and caulking. Storm sash will greatly reduce the loss of heat through the window glass. The west and north windows of every house should be equipped with storm sash. If you are getting less heat out of your furnace despite the fact that you are burning more coal than in past years, your trouble may be found in your chimneys or flues. Cracked chimneys and leaky flues, it is claimed, are responsible for millions of tons of coal being wasted annually.

Solid brick work with smooth, sound joints of rich mortar make the strongest chimneys. The flues should be lined with fire clay or special flue tile.

Concrete First Floor.

Estimates made by contractors indicate that a concrete first floor increases the total cost of the building only 1 1/2 to 2 per cent. Concrete floors are fire-resistant and reduce to a minimum the hazard from overheated or defective basement heating plants. They also eliminate sagging, deflection and lateral movements, and consequently minimize plaster cracks on walls and ceilings.

Enclosed Radiators Save Decorations.

Radiator enclosures add considerably to a room's beauty and comfort. In addition they serve as a protection for decorations which are likely to become streaked from air ascending from the radiators.

Severe In Its Simplicity

Careful Proportion of Details Assures Comfort

Severe in its simplicity, both in dining room, kitchen with a breakfast nook, and a cold room and pantry, and large closet.

Three bedrooms, two of which have cross-ventilation, are on the second floor. All are large and made roomy enough to contain comfortable pieces. Two baths accommodate the rooms.

Brown bungalow is indicated by the roof, with chimney done in light blue or green. The entrance doorway may be white or in color to match the blinds.

With a full basement, the house contains 25,000 cubic feet.

Utilizing All the Space in a Home

The American home, as it is being planned and built today, comprises more real living space within four walls and a roof than our forefathers ever dreamed was possible.

What did the founders of this Republic know of disappearing beds, buffet kitchens, and built-in bookcases and china cabinets and sleeping balconies and wall closets, and of the modern scientific development of heating, lighting and ventilation?

What did they know of "house work travel lines," or of Pullman breakfast nooks, or of ice boxes or of two-way stairs?

And the really surprising thing about all these improvements and conveniences, these added features, actually reduce the cost of the home, instead of increasing it. Built-in features save the cost of furniture they replace, besides allowing a smaller room with more open floor space and a consequent smaller building and smaller cost.

A slight mechanical change in the plans and the intelligent cooperation of the workmen, permit the use of short lengths of lumber, giving better quality, and by their more

SAVE SURFACE

Fences, Minor Buildings Should Be Painted

"Save the surface and you save the pennies," is not an exaggeration when it is said with reference to fences, minor structures, chicken houses, sheds, stables and basements of homes.

Neglecting exposed surfaces is a "penny wise and pound foolish." A few cents may be saved at the time, but repairs made necessary by this saving will soon cost good, hard-earned dollars.

The National Lime Association, Washington, D. C., has a number of formulas for whitewashes and lime paints. The maximum cost of materials of any of these formulas is about six cents per pound. Whitewash or cold water paint will weigh on the average, about 12 pounds to the gallon. A gallon will cover 225 square feet of wood, 180 square feet of brick masonry and 270 feet of plaster.

general use tend to keep down construction costs through a wider utilization of forest products.

MODERNIZE

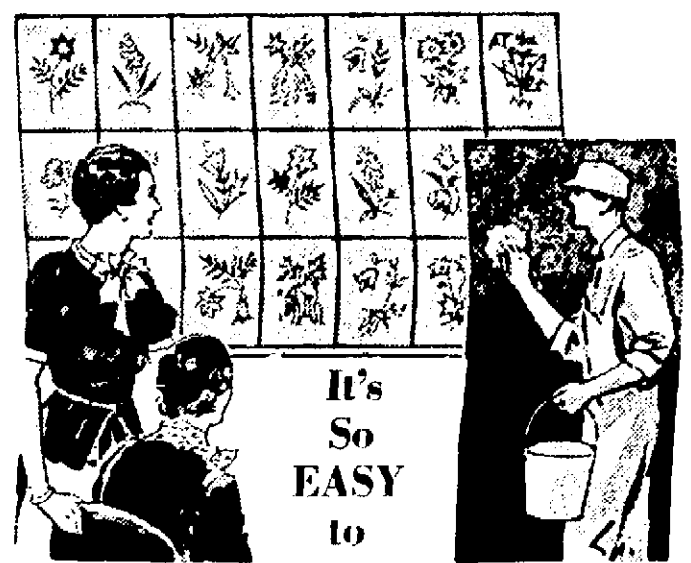

The big swing this spring is to property improvement. You'll see it in homes, factories, offices—in the city and country. Everyone realizes that now is the time to add value and beauty to property at minimum cost and at the same time start the wheels of progress in the building trades turning toward better times.

Soldier's Funeral For Justice Holmes

ages of advanced age, Holmes' military mustache still bristled, and his ruddy face seemed flushed with health under his crown of wavy white hair. But when he began the delivery of the decision of the court which sustained Dunn's conviction, he spoke in a weak, faltering voice, his pronunciation thick. It was the first time in his long career he experienced difficulty in completing a decision. Usually his words were clear and distinct, and his enunciation perfect.

Showing some signs of impatience over the difficulty he had experienced in reading the opinion, he yet gave no warning that the spectators had witnessed the end of his brilliant career. He remained throughout the session, ate luncheon with his colleagues and participated in the proceedings with his usual keen interest. But he walked from the bench never again to enter the court room for he went home, wrote his resignation and sent it to President Hoover.

The high esteem in which he was held by his colleagues was expressed in a letter they sent him when notified of his action. They termed his service a unique distinction in uninterrupted effectiveness and exceptional quality.

A Tribute

"Your profound learning and philosophical outlook have found expression," the letter read, "in opinions which have become classic, enriching the literature of the law as well as its substance. With a most conscientious exactness in the performance of every duty, you have brought to our collaboration in difficult tasks a personal charm and a freedom and independence of spirit which have been a constant refreshment. While we are losing the privilege of daily companionship, the most precious memories of your unfailing kindness and general nature, bide with us, and these memories will ever be one of the choicest traditions of the court."

"Deeply regretting the necessity for your retirement, we trust that—relieved of the burden which has become too heavy—you may have a renewal of vigor and that you will find satisfaction in your resources of intellectual enjoyment."

Afterwards Holmes continued the life to which he had become accustomed outside the court. He read more than ever, frequently visiting the Congressional Library and the government museums. On fair days he rode in the automobile he had been hiring for years.

When the court took its summer recess he went as usual to his home at Beverly Farms, Mass., to remain there until the fall. When the court resumed its sessions, he returned to Washington.

Justice Brandeis, his constant companion while he was on the bench, frequently visited him, as did other members of the court, some of them calling on him at his summer home, as well as when he was in Washington.

While he never entered the room in which the court holds its public sessions, he several times visited the conference room where the justices meet to discuss cases and where he had on many occasions waged pitched battles with colleagues whose views differed from his. He always was careful, however, to time his visits so as not to encounter any members of the court in the council chamber.

When he retired to private life he was entitled by law to continue to draw his salary of $20,000 he had been receiving as an active member of the court. This was cut to $10,000 by an economy act, but was restored to $20,000 by later legislation.

Always a student, he found much in Washington to occupy his time. He loved trees and on his frequent automobile rides, went into the surrounding country, having in Virginia a particular grove of elms of which he was especially fond. In Virginia he also visited scenes associated with his army service in the civil war. A faithful secretary remained with him, a close companion.

A Life Apart

Of all America's great, probably none lived more aloof from his fellow men than Oliver Wendell Holmes.

For almost three quarters of a century, the celebrated Massachusetts jurist, scholar and soldier, devoted his tremendous talents and energy to the service of his country and its citizens. Yet he almost always looked out on life from the seclusion of the supreme court or through his study windows.

He kept step mentally, however, with the changing panorama of a changing civilization—in touch with the progress and problems of the plain citizen and jealously watchful as a supreme court justice of the rights of the individual under constitutional guarantee.

Philosophy Of Loneliness

Keystone to the Holmes manner of living was one of his few precepts: "A man of high ambition must leave his fellow adventurers and face the loneliness of original work."

In the study of his graciously old-fashioned home a short distance from the White House, the shrewd-haired justice spent much of his time in "original work" and in association, through the medium of his books, with the great in law and in literature.

There, dining tier upon tier in the ceiling, were books by the hundreds, his legal tomes and the works of the classicists of many ages and countries. Far from the turmoil of politics and commerce, he read his beloved volumes and wrote the opinions that were said to have made the supreme court reports literature.

Even in the prime of his life, he apparently had little personal need or desire for the companionship of other men. While traditional supreme court isolation, of necessity, kept him away from lawyers and men in politics, he remained aloof even from his colleagues of the bench. Only Justice Brandeis, who often saw eye to eye with him in "human" interpretation of the law, could be called a close associate.

Did Hate Crony

At his summer home at Beverly Farms, Mass., where he worked hard on court cases during vacation periods, he made frequent trips to the station to visit an old crony, the station master. With him he discussed affairs of state as well as local gossip.

Even at 96 it seemed he never would grow old. At that age the man, who had conversed with Emerson and was three times wounded in the civil war, appeared to be more vitally youthful than many men 30 years his junior.

The son of the author of "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," he was considered the perfect symbol of supreme court dignity and learning.

BLOOMINGTON

Bloomington, March 5.—Mr. and Mrs. B. Stokes of Pleasantville spent Sunday with Mrs. Amelia Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Connors of Poughkeepsie spent Sunday with relatives in this place.

Harold Taylor of Newark, N. Y., spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, of Bloomington Terrace, last week.

On Thursday of last week there was a good attendance of ladies at the Missionary Society sewing bee held at the home of Mrs. Edwin LeFevre. All those who attended reported a very pleasant day.

On Saturday Miss Virginia Markle had as her guests for dinner the Misses Ruth Hotelling, Shirley Brown, Marguerite Randegger from this place and Miss Helen Wesp of Rosendale. After dinner, Gordon Reylea, Kenneth Randegger, Raymond LeFevre and Adolph Beckhoven joined the young ladies and together they had a very pleasant evening.

Alderman Renn—that holes in Cedar street be filled; that VanBuren street be topdressed.

Aldermen Doherty and Trampier—that the ordinance prohibiting the riding of bicycles at night on the public streets without lights be enforced, as this is a very dangerous practice and should be stopped.

Alderman Leirey—that the mayor take up personally by appointment or through correspondence the matter of having the New York Central Railroad divert a great percentage of transfer cars to Kingston transfer.

Alderman Leirey—that city engineer and superintendent of board of public works make a survey of streets of Fourth ward, especially outlying district, to contemplate repairs, especially those streets where the E.R.B. projects have been carried on during the winter.

Aldermen Leirey and Ashby—that board of public works contemplate resurfacing of Delaware avenue from Murray street to Lindsley avenue.

Alderman Leirey—that Moore street be repaired and made regulation width.

Alderman Kolbe—that board of public works fill up holes on Jansen avenue, between East Chester street and Foxhall avenue, as this street is in very poor condition; that TERA consider the extension of Van Gaasbeck street as a relief project; that TERA repair the roadbeds in Clifton avenue, Sherman and Lincoln streets as soon as possible as these streets are in a dangerous condition for traffic.

Alderman Ashby—that all streets in the Fifth ward be cleaned at once.

Laws and Rules Report

The laws and rules committee reported with reference to letter submitted by Alderman Kolts on February 5 meeting of council on behalf of taxpayers in regard to special assessments on what is known as the Stephen street and Clifton avenue sewers which was referred to the laws and rules committee. The committee had met with representatives of the taxpayers on February 28, but did not arrive at a conclusion which it felt would be acceptable to the city. The report was approved.

The council audited a number of bills and then adjourned.

"Go Slow Mary!" at Hurley

"Go Slow, Mary!", a three act comedy, will be presented by the Young People's Forum at the Hurley Reformed Church on Friday evening, March 8, at 7:45. Here is a grand opportunity to enjoy what might be an otherwise dull evening. The play is full of good wholesome mirth. All are invited.

Why You Should Never Cut a Corn

If you are troubled with corns or callouses, do not run the risk of blood poisoning by paring them. Statistics show that many infections have occurred from the seemingly innocent practice of paring corns.

Simply go to your druggist and get a few cents worth of Ice-Mint, rub a little on any painful corn or callous. Immediately the pain will disappear, and in a short time the corn or callous will loosen and lift off easily with the fingers—no need of leaving the surrounding skin in a healthy normal condition.

This, together with the fact that Ice-Mint overcomes such afflictions as sore throat, itching, puffed or burning feet and makes them cool, easy and comfortable, is probably responsible for the hearty endorsement given it by druggists.

To rid ones feet of every hard corn, soft corn, corn between the toes or painful callouses in such a pleasant and safe way, makes it seem the height of folly for anyone to pare a corn and people are warned to stop it.—Adv.

Long Life and Security

THE Metropolitan Life Insurance Company began publishing "Health Hints" for its policyholders in 1871 and ever since has carried on its efforts toward better health.

The Company cooperated with government officials in a campaign against a threatened cholera epidemic in 1892 and thus began its cooperative work with public health organizations.

In further developing its activities in the field of health, the Metropolitan organized its Welfare Division in 1909 and, at about the same time, a nation-wide nursing service was established for Industrial policyholders.

Subsequent health records demonstrate the value of these services.

During all these years the Company has worked shoulder to shoulder with national, state and local health organizations to stamp out preventable disease.

New low mortality figures were recorded in 1934 for practically all of the diseases against which public health forces have directed special preventive efforts—notably typhoid fever, tuberculosis, diphtheria, infant mortality and maternal mortality. During this year the good record of previous years continued to obtain among Metropolitan policyholders.

PILES? READ THIS LETTER

"I suffered 18 years from bleeding and excruciating piles. I never slept more than 3 hours a night in just a week. I could hardly lie down or sit on a chair without the itching and smarting. I tried every kind of treatment, but nothing helped. I was in a desperate condition. I was told to read 'The Pile Cure' by Dr. J. C. Smith. I read it and followed the directions. In a few days the itching and smarting stopped. In a few weeks the piles were gone. I am now in perfect health. I can sleep and sit on a chair without any trouble. I am a great believer in Dr. J. C. Smith's 'Pile Cure'."—J. C. Smith, 1234 Broadway, New York City.

NEW PALTS

New Paltz, March 6.—Charles C. Deyo of Oakwood Terrace has returned to Kingston Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Ida Freer of Poughkeepsie spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Frank Auchmoody, at Lloyd.

Mrs. Robert Guice of Modena was a visitor in town one day the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elliott entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Mward and William Thorn of Clintondale last Sunday.

Captain Herman C. Dayton spent the week-end in Poughkeepsie with his nephew, Milton D. Bloomer.

Mrs. Lillian Rhodes of Modena visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guinac on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parker and family left New Paltz last week for Rock Island, Ill., to make their home. Mrs. Parker's parents also live there. Mr. Parker will be missed by his many friends in New Paltz and especially at the Reformed Church, where he has been superintendent of the church school for a number of years. Since Mrs. Parker came to New Paltz after their marriage has been a great help in church work being a trained worker in religious education. She devoted much of her time to this work. Both Mr. and Mrs. Parker have the best wishes of their New Paltz friends in their new undertakings.

Thursday evening, March 7, a meeting of the Highland Order of Eastern Star will be held at the home of Worthy Patron and Mrs. Thomas Washington of New Paltz at 7:30 o'clock.

New Paltz High School basketball team played Arlington last Friday and lost to the score of 40-34. The girls' varsity lost to Arlington with the score of 26-12. The New Paltz girls to date stand second in the N. O. S. U. League, ratings as there is a tie between Kerhonkson and Marlborough for first place. The Alsdorf House played against the Jayvees and the seconds won as the game ended on a score of 20-17 on Tuesday.

John LeFevre, son of Mrs. Faye LeFevre, of New Paltz, who attends the Northwood School at Lake Placid, played defense in the hockey team of the Lake Placid Club in two games. On March 1, the club played Lawrenceville School at Lawrenceville, New Jersey, at the Hobey Baker arena, and on Saturday, March 2, they played Riverdale School of New York City at Bear Mountain Park. Mr. LeFevre is a regular member of the Northwood team.

At the morning service in the Methodist Church on Sunday, March 3, the pastor, the Rev. Robert L. Mauterstock, preached from the subject "A Disappointed Lord." The pastor's class of the Methodist Church School will meet Wednesday afternoon at 3:30. The church official board held their last regular meeting of this conference year on Monday night, March 4.

William Vanderlyn of Chelsea is visiting his brother, John E. Vanderlyn, at Ohioville.

Cafeteria Dinner

The Willing Workers Class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold their annual St. Patrick's Day cafeteria dinner on Friday, March 15, from 5 to 9 p. m.

Broadway: "Behold My Wife." Convincingly done drama is this familiar story of an Indian princess and a white boy, who get all tied up in conventions until love takes the knots out of the problem. The plot tells of the rich Gene Raymond, scion of a high-toned family, because his parents thwarted his love affair with his sweetheart, Mr. Raymond, filled with spite and revenge, cuts loose and does a desperate thing. He marries an Indian girl just to make his parents squirm with bitterness. That isn't all there is to it however. The little princess, played by Sylvia Sidney, teaches him a thing or two about love and faith and trust. It's capable, romantic screen fare, exciting in parts, and always entertaining. Others in the cast include Monroe Owsley, H. B. Warner, and Juliette Compton.

Orpheum: "Marie Galante." A new play, Ketti Gallian, starts her American debut in the first attraction, a story about spies, high treason, and the struggle of another nation to wrest the Panama Canal away from the United States. The current danger is often intense, although implausible some of the time, and a fine group of players all do their best to make the show seem real. Spencer Tracy, Helen Morgan, Ned Sparks, Arthur Byron and Leslie Fenton are featured. "Cheating Cheaters" is all about a woman crook, played by Fay Wray. Hugh O'Connell and Henry Armetta are also in the cast.

Kingston: "Red Hot Tires" and "White Lies." Lyle Talbot, Mary Astor, Roscoe Karns, Frankie Darro, Gavin Gordon and John Elliott are to be seen in the opening talkie, a race track play with a new twist, "Wally" Storm, played by Lyle Talbot, is the greatest auto racer in the world. Sent to prison on an error, he believes his girl is the reason for his plight. She, trying to free him, gets to prison just after he escapes. He never knows her loyalty. He goes to South America and does some racing, but returns to the United States when he discovers how much his girl has really done for him. She is a car designer, and he promises to race her car in the big race. Wally's enemy is out to get him, and there is much suspense, danger and excitement. "White Lies" is the other full length feature, with Fay Wray, Arthur Jory and Walter Connolly.

Tomorrow

Broadway: Same.
Orpheum: Same.
Kingston: Same.

There's one outer door, but it opens with ease. It's dark, but Puffy sees two big cars through the trees. "Come on," Puffy whispers, "don't stop where you are." And then all the children climb into the car.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Selecting "the most beautiful girl" on a college campus is ticklish business for a movie star, and Fredric March takes it seriously.

Probably because of the publicity March has had on his career at the University of Wisconsin, where he was class president and up to his neck in other collegiate activities, he has become Hollywood's foremost beauty contest judge among the actors.

Six college annuals this spring will contain photographs of beauties personally selected by Fredric March. It is Fredric March, and not John Westwood, his secretary and stand-in, who does the picking from photographs sent him from the campuses.

Personal Attention Westwood opens March's mail, but always turns over important matters for his employer's personal attention. March rates beauty-judging important. When he recently received 15 full-length portraits from Iowa State university, the star took the portraits home and studied them. In a couple of days he had narrowed the selection to six—and these half dozen portraits decorated a divan in the hall, where they could be scrutinized several times daily, for two or three days more, before March made his final selection.

He makes his choice not without misgivings. And he is always careful to explain that the winner is in his own estimation the most beautiful girl, but that this is the opinion of one man. Had it been Ronald Colman or Clark Gable or George Arliss doing the job, he points out, a different winner might have been selected.

March likes the contact with colleges his beauty-judging affords. He has not forgotten his own college days.

A 'College Discovery' John Westwood, who hears a slight resemblance to March and therefore can combine the duties of stand-in with those of secretary, was almost an actor—once. He may be again, some time.

He is the last of First National's "college discoveries" of 1927 to remain active in films. The studio combed the campus scene, selected "likely" candidates for star material, and brought them to Hollywood. After the first short-term contracts expired, the boys one by one dropped out of the Hollywood scene. Westwood, who was Princeton's contribution, returned a year and a half ago and got his job with March.

"I'm in no hurry," he says, "but some day I may try acting again. I'm 28, and few actors really get well started before their early thirties."

Some men never extend a helping hand only when helping themselves.

DAVIDSONSON BEFORE MYSTERY DEATH

Intimations of murder entered the inquest at Pinehurst, N. C., into the death of Mrs. Elva Statler Davidson, bride of two months and heirless to the Statler hotel fortune. Her husband said he "happened to be in love with Mrs. Davidson" and was "not interested" in her money after he was asked about her will which left him $100,000 and an annuity. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson are shown shortly after their marriage. (Associated Press Photo)

Mayor Heiselman Had Busy Day in New York

Monday Evening Was Guest at Banquet Tendered Head of Claims Department of TERA and Tuesday Was Busy All Day With State TERA Officials in Regard to Local Matters—Also Tried to Induce Industrial Concerns to Locate Here.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman and Mrs. Reben and H. S. Shults of the local emergency relief bureau have returned from New York city where they spent a busy day on Tuesday at the offices of the State TERA taking up matters of local interest including the question of supplying needy children with milk. The state funds for that home relief project are exhausted, but Mayor Heiselman has made arrangements where the delivery of milk has been continued until an appropriation can be made by the State TERA for that purpose. Several other matters in relation to the relief question in Kingston were also discussed at length.

Following the meeting with the state officials the mayor, and Messrs. Reben and Shults went over to Brooklyn where they interviewed the head of a large industrial concern which is planning to move its plant from that city. The local men urged that Kingston be selected as the site for the plant and outlined the advantages that the city had to offer. Monday evening Mayor Heiselman and Messrs. Reben and Shults attended the testimonial dinner given James J. Hayes, chief of the claims division of the State TERA, which was given in the Florentine Room of the Park Central Hotel. The local men were seated at the speakers' table and during the evening Mayor Heiselman was called on and delivered a brief address. The local men were the only representatives of a municipality outside of New York city who were guests at the dinner.

WEST PARK
West Park, March 6.—Friday night, March 1, Mrs. William Yesse, held her annual card party in the Ascension Church parish house. About 150 people attended.

Sunday night at Willwyck, Lawrence Filkin, director of recreation, gave the men and boys a talk on "Sports." The rest of the evening was spent in playing shuffle board and ping-pong.

A St. Patrick's day program will be held on March 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the recreation hall at Willwyck. Many of the boys will use their talents. The public is cordially invited to attend.

There will be a meeting of the executive board of the Women's Club of Southern Ulster county at the home of Mrs. John Gaffney, Highland, on Thursday, March 7, at 8 p. m. The members of the board are: Mrs. A. J. LePore, president; Miss Rose-Patt, recording secretary; Miss Hilda Osberg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Alice DuMont, treasurer; Mrs. John Gaffney, chairman of membership; Mrs. Laura Abrams, chairman of hospitality; Miss Eliza Raymond, chairman of program.

The Women's Club of Southern Ulster county will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, March 12, at 8 p. m. in the club room of the Ascension Church parish house. The speaker will be Emory Jacobs of the New Paltz Normal, whose subject will be "History in the Making." The women of West Park and Esopus are cordially invited to come and bring their husbands and friends.

Several members and Sunday school children of the Ascension Church, West Park, went to Newburgh Monday night, March 4, to see the film "The New World." It was most interesting because it gave the history of the Episcopal Church in the United States from the discovery of America to the present day. The activities of the church have extended to such places as Africa, Hawaii, China, Alaska, Porto Rico, etc. Willwyck at West Park was also shown as one of the places where mission work is being carried on and the boys are learning trades such as electricians, masons, etc. Those present from West Park and Esopus were: Mrs. Alice DuMont, Mrs. Maude Ryan, Mrs. Charles Osberg, Miss Hilda Osberg, the Rev. G. S. Dunneath, Theodore Iwert, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mott, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. LePore, Mrs. James Hopper. The children present were: Marjorie Mott, Barbara Mott, Betty Goodrich, Barbara Ann Osberg, Erica Dirks, Nathan Ackhart.

Woes of J. J. Walker Increased by Threat

London, March 6 (AP).—The threat of an action to place him in involuntary bankruptcy added today to the woes of James J. Walker, former mayor of New York.

Walker, who testified in court a few days ago that he was "without funds," said papers had been served on him to compel him to submit to a receiver a statement of the "nature and value of his assets."

The action, the former mayor said, would enable his creditors to force him into involuntary bankruptcy if they should so desire.

The service was based on a judgment obtained in London courts in behalf of Hattie Carnegie pertaining to purchases the first Mrs. Walker was alleged to have made in New York while she and her husband were living apart.

As Walker faced this new legal complication, Sir John Gilmour, the home secretary, made known that an inquiry is being made to ascertain the New York's status as an alien.

(Walker's failure to register as an alien temporarily residing in Great Britain was brought up in the recent court hearing on his financial affairs and made the subject of comment in the House of Commons. Since that time he has complied with the regulations.)

Corsican Deputies Fight Duel in Paris, One Is Shot in Wrist

By CHARLES FOLTZ
(Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press)

Paris, March 6.—Deputy Cesar Campinchi was shot through the wrist and suffered the severance of an artery today in a duel with Deputy Horace de Carbuccia. He was taken to a hospital.

The deputies, both of whom are Corsicans, had quarreled over an article published in a weekly newspaper owned by De Carbuccia.

The principals left the field unreconciled. Police prosecution may follow, but it is considered unlikely since Campinchi's condition is not believed to be grave.

The duel was fought with traditional French courtesy and ritual in a football field, the Parc Des Princesses Stadium, on the outskirts of Paris.

Was a Witness
I was fortunate enough to be the only "disinterested" witness by the simple expedient of going to the field long before dawn and waiting for the duellists to arrive.

They were preceded into the stadium by three guards, accompanied by three police dogs. The dogs and their masters ferreted out an amazing number of would-be spectators, for the preliminaries leading up to the duel had been well publicized.

Campinchi had refused to retract "an offensive letter" which Carbuccia said his parliamentary colleague had written. Both had named seconds and pistols had been chosen as the weapons. All Paris was agog over the matter.

The guards rounded up the other curious persons in the stadium rapidly. They were discovered in grand stands and elsewhere about the grounds. Soon the Parc was cleared. It was shortly after dawn that the little party of men engaged in the "affair of honor" filed into the field.

The Seconds
With Campinchi, as his seconds, were former Minister of Pensions, Raymond Miellet and the former head of the Paris Bar Association, Fernand Payen. De Carbuccia's seconds were Edmond Recouly, a writer, and Deputy Jean De Nadalliac.

The referee was Jean Joseph Renaud, the well-known writer and authority on dueling who has often been in the United States and who has conducted more duels than any other man in France.

With them also were two doctors. The three guards stood by. Shortly after the little party had assembled in the vast area of the playing field, the early morning rays of the sun swept across the high stands. The bright sunlight lit up the football banners which waved in the breeze from the stands around the walls. It was a bright peaceful day in Paris and the stadium was dressed as though for a gala occasion.

At 20 Paces
The seconds, under Renaud's directions, measured off 20 paces. Campinchi was placed at one terminal of this distance and De Carbuccia at the other.

To my amazement, I saw that each of the men, ready to face death, was dressed in the height of dignified fashion. Both the men wore dark clothes; both wore their coats; strange of all, each wore gloves. It was as though they were dressed to go to an afternoon tea.

The weapons were produced by the seconds. There were two pistols, each a regulation dueling arm and each exactly matching the other. They were carefully and gravely examined by Renaud.

Given Weapons
The weapons were handed to the duellists. Campinchi appeared the more nervous. The hammer fell on the charge just as it was given to him and the pistol exploded prematurely with no harm to anyone. It was immediately reloaded and given back to him.

Everyone stepped back. In a vast silence Renaud shouted "Fire!" Campinchi quickly raised his pistol, took aim, and pulled the trigger.

De Carbuccia stood quietly for a moment, then raised his own gun and fired. There was no immediate indication that either shot had taken effect.

Again came the command to fire and again Campinchi was the first to raise his gun.

But his right hand dropped, uselessly. He had been shot in the right wrist.

The doctors rushed up immediately and De Carbuccia held his fire.

First Aid
The doctors removed Campinchi's gloves and coat and hastily applied a first aid bandage around his forearm.

The seconds conferred with each other and with the duellists. Then they carefully took the pistols and walked over to the wall to discharge them harmlessly against the stone. The shots struck uncomfortably close to where I was standing.

In half an hour it was all over and both the duellists left the field. Campinchi supported in the arms of his seconds.

As he went out, he told them: "Excuse me for having bothered you and thank you for your sympathy. It touches me deeply."

A police commissary arrived at the field as the party was leaving. He reminded the seconds that the French law forbade dueling and took down a written report of the affair.

Actual arrests probably will not be made, however, as the policy in the past has been to prosecute duellists only in the event of grave injury. Even then, none concerned in past affairs have testified.

GLENN W. YOUNG OBTAINS SCHOLARSHIP AVERAGE
Syracuse, March 6.—Glenn W. Young of 90 Furnace street, Kingston, is one of 24 sophomores in the College of Liberal Arts at Syracuse University who obtained B averages during the first semester of the current academic year.

Dean Carl C. Leebick of the College of Liberal Arts was high in his praise of the group which, he said, definitely established the best scholarship record of any previous similar group of students. Letters of congratulation have been sent by Dean Leebick to parents of each ranking sophomore.

Young, a 1932 Kingston High School graduate, is planning to major in philosophy at Syracuse. He is a member of the varsity fencing squad, the Deputations Committee and the Student Ministers' Club.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

CLAUDE E. JAGGER

New York, March 6 (AP).—Just as the stock market was preparing to receive another downward kick today, help came from the White House in the form of remarks by the President at his press conference which were interpreted by some as presaging another cut in the value of the dollar.

Equities reversed their trend and jumped ahead when the news tickers reported the chief executive had said the value of the monetary unit was still too high in relation to debts. This, of course, was at first glance seen as at least potentially inflationary. Gold and silver mining issues led the initial spurt with recoveries of 1 to 3 points and the trading volume expanded briskly. The fervor cooled a little later, however, and prices slipped back from their peaks when it was found that Mr. Roosevelt, in answer to a query as to whether he meant further dollar devaluation, laughingly cautioned his questioner not to go too fast.

Among shares recording advances of 2 to around 3 points were U. S. Smelting, McIntyre Porcupine Can and Case. Gainers of a point or more included U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Continental Can, Loew's, American Smelting, Howe Sound, Cerro de Pasco, Chrysler, Johns-Manville, Columbia Pictures, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson and N. Y. Central. The utilities, such as Consolidated Gas and Public Service of New Jersey, were fractionally improved, but American Telephone was just about even.

A Weeping Bride Who Wanted to Get Tight, Picture of Slain Girl

Pinehurst, N. C., March 6 (AP).—A millionaire bride, weeping and intending "to get tight" at what was supposed to be a gay party, was a picture given of Mrs. H. Bradley Davidson, Jr., today as a coroner's jury resumed an inquest into her death.

Contracting other witnesses who said they saw little unusual in Mrs. Davidson's attitude at a spaghetti supper, a few hours before her body was found, two witnesses said they saw her in intermittent outbursts of weeping, and Bernard Freeman, Pinehurst newspaperman, said he heard Mrs. Davidson say:

"I'm going to get tight."

He said he noticed her drinking only wine, but that there was a highball before her at the table. All witnesses have testified to what was termed extremely light drinking the night of the party.

Miss Jane McMullen, of Hyannisport, Mass., a member of the party, and John Notragiacomo, waiter at the Spaghetti Club, both said Mrs. Davidson wept at the table.

Girl Returns Home.

South Bend, Ind., March 6 (AP).—Dorothea Emma was home again today, her reported abduction by a 23-year-old former convict the subject of inquiry by police and the department of justice. Horace M. Hamilton, assistant chief of police, received information that during the search for the pair that spread into four states yesterday, they drove to Rochester, Ind., "acted like newlyweds," that the girl had at least two opportunities to escape but made no such move. Dorothea insisted to officers that she did not make the trip voluntarily, and said she didn't "think of" making an attempt to flee from her kidnaper. The 17-year-old high school girl alighted from a mud-spattered sedan in front of her parents' home last night, and ran in to the house while the driver of the automobile sped away. Russell Allen Austin is the man reported by Dorothea's mother, Mrs. Onal Emma, to have driven off with the girl yesterday morning after a ruse to deceive the mother. They believed him to be the driver of the car in which she returned.

About The Folks

Frances Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bruno, of 140 Linderman avenue, who has been seriously ill with lobar pneumonia, is convalescing at her home, and is now able to sit up in bed. As a last effort to save her life, pneumonia serum was administered, which was successful. Dr. D. Meyers is the attending physician.

All present members of the Greene-Winter district have been invited to the guests of the chapter at this meeting. All Stars and Master Masons are invited to attend. A program of entertainment has been arranged and refreshments will be served.

To Consider House Bill.

Washington, March 6 (AP).—The House ways and means committee voted 14 to 11 today to consider the American Legion bill for each payment of the bonus as agreed to in the Panama currency expansion bill. This action was taken after an agreement to report a bonus bill to the House for four action.

Bill to Abolish Superintendent of Highways in Ulster

The following is the bill to abolish the position of county superintendent of highways and creating the position of county engineer in Ulster county, which was introduced in the state Assembly Monday evening by Assemblyman Hayes of Albany:

AN ACT TO ABOLISH THE OFFICE OF THE COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT OF HIGHWAYS IN ULSTER COUNTY, AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A COUNTY ENGINEER, AND PRESCRIBING HIS POWERS AND DUTIES.

The people of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. The office of county superintendent of highways in the county of Ulster, as authorized by section thirty of the highway law, is hereby abolished, and in the place and stead of such county superintendent of highways as may be in office at the time this act takes effect, the board of supervisors of Ulster county are hereby empowered to appoint a county engineer, and fix his compensation, whose term of office shall be for four years from the date of his appointment and qualification, to perform the engineering work in the county. The board of supervisors shall also appoint such assistants to the county engineer as may be necessary and fix their compensation. Such appointments shall be made upon the recommendation of the county engineer so appointed.

2. The county engineer shall perform all the county engineering required by the board of supervisors, by the other departments of the county and the provisions of the highway law; he shall make all preliminary surveys for the opening, making, constructing, paving, macadamizing, repairing, grading and establishing the grade of all streets, sidewalks and cross walks, gutters, sewers, sewer inlets and the measurements of all work done on the same or on other public places within the county; he shall prepare all plans, profiles and specifications therefor when necessary, or when required by the board of supervisors, and shall perform such other duties as may from time to time be required by the board of supervisors; he shall have no power to employ assistants or to contract any liability or debt on the part of the county except as authorized by resolution of the board of supervisors; he shall keep in his office books and records of all surveys of maps and streets, avenues and lands and the grade, thereof, and sidewalks, water mains, sewers, sewer inlets, location and grade thereof and such other books and records as the board of supervisors from time to time shall prescribe. Such books and records shall be properly indexed, and shall be the property of the county, and transmitted with all other matter pertaining to his office to his successor. His salary shall be fixed by the board of supervisors and shall not be increased during the term for which he is appointed.

3. The salary fixed by the board of supervisors as compensation for such county engineer shall be in full payment of all services he may render the county in any capacity whatsoever, directly or indirectly.

4. Upon the appointment and qualification of the county engineer by this act provided, the superintendent of highways now in office in Ulster county shall, on written demand therefor, turn over to such county engineer all books, records, maps, profiles and other documents in his possession pertaining to the office of county superintendent of highways.

5. This act shall take effect immediately.

Note: The above bill was introduced in the Assembly as Introductory No. 1935 by Mr. Hayes, by request, on March 4, 1935.

A Free Woman

Los Angeles, March 6 (AP).—The law was ready today to declare Slater Almee Semple McPherson a free woman in the world of romance. All that is necessary for the final decree divorcing the evangelist from the portly baritone, David Hutton, is for the attorneys to submit the formal decree to the superior court for a judicial signature. Today's action will write final on her third matrimonial venture. She was 19 when she married Robert Semple. He died while they were doing missionary work in China. Shortly after her return to this country she married Harold McPherson, grocery clerk. A divorce followed. Today, Almee, who is 44, is in the Far East on an evangelist tour.

Overhaul Bill

Albany, N. Y., March 6 (AP).—A general overhaul of the $50,000,000 New York state rural rehabilitation bill was undertaken today following charges by Balbridge Coble, secretary of state under President Wilson, that it was "unconstitutional in toto."

Traffic on River.

Moscow, March 6 (AP).—Traffic on the Moscow river will have to be slowed and green "stop" and "go" lights this summer the same as traffic in the streets. Police boats are to be installed at fixed distances, and the lights already have been set up.

First Ball Match

The First Presbyterian Men's Club and their ladies will be the guests this evening of the Fair Street Reformed Men's Club at a league dirt ball match. Play will commence at 8 o'clock.

"New York state is by far the most important producer of cabbage for export," says Paul S. Williamson of the State College of Agriculture at Cornell. "The average production for the past seven years in this state has been 11,400 tons, or thirty-seven percent of the total for the country. Other important cabbage-producing states are Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois."

A Story Can Be Found In This Speech Of A Nebraska Merchant

I HAVE BEEN IN BUSINESS 27 YEARS AND SELDOM MISS AN ISSUE OF THE LOCAL PAPER WITH AN AD OF SOME KIND.

I BELIEVE THE CONSTANT SPITTING OF A MACHINE GUN DOES MORE EXECUTING THAN THE OCCASIONAL BOOM OF A BIG BERTHA. IT SPAT-SPAT SHOT GETS RESULTS. SO IT IS WITH ADVERTISING: THE SMALL AD RUN EVERY WEEK IS BETTER FOR RESULTS THAN THE LARGE AD RUN HIT OR MISS. CONSECUTIVE ADVERTISING GETS THE BUSINESS.

WE ARE TOLD THAT AMERICAN BUSINESS NOW HAS HIT THE BOTTOM. AND THAT THINGS ARE BETTER. NOW IS THE TIME TO ADVERTISE OUR WARES AND GET THE PUBLIC TO START BUYING. THERE ARE ALL KINDS OF ADVERTISING SCHEMES AND I HAVE DABBLED IN THEM ALL, BUT THE ADVERTISING IN THE LOCAL NEWSPAPER IS BEST AND GIVES THE LARGEST RESULTS FOR MONEY SPENT.

PUT MORE TIME IN WRITING YOUR ADS, CREATE A DESIRE TO POSSESS, AND IT WILL GET THE BUSINESS.

IF YOU HAD A WHOLE BUSHEL OF CHAIN LINKS IT WOULD NOT PULL A LOAD. PUT THEM TOGETHER IN A CONTINUOUS CHAIN AND YOU HAVE A STRONG AND POWERFUL THING WITH WHICH TO PULL A LOAD. SO IT IS WITH ADVERTISING. LINK YOUR ADS TOGETHER, RUN THEM IN A CONTINUOUS STRING, WEEK AFTER WEEK, AND YOU WILL PRODUCE RESULTS

Legionnaires' Sharp Rally Beats New Britain Jackaways By 42-34

Tuesday night at the Municipal Auditorium, before a capacity crowd of enthusiastic fans, "Pop" Morgenweck's fighting Legionnaires came from behind to trim the highly touted New Britain Jackaways by a 42-34 score. Trailing on the short end of a 20-3 count in the middle of the second period, the local stars staged a rally that had the fans on their feet. Benny Borgmann and his mates won't forget it for a long time.

Stanton Enters Game
It was at this time that Manager Morgenweck's new passing sensation Corky Stanton, went in the game, replacing Pip Koehler. On the very first play Corky found himself sitting on the floor, having been blocked out by Trupin. The incident evidently kindled his fighting spirit, for from then on he was a power on the defense, and proved to be the fastest man on the floor. He continually broke for the basket and was always on the spot at the right time. His passwork was a pleasure to watch. Stanton's appearance seemed to inspire Frank Shimek, and the old maestro, who, continually fed by Corky's superb passes, began to find the loop. He dropped in a field, a foul and a field in quick succession. The boys became inspired, and Carlie Husta responded with two fields, together with a long shot from the middle of the floor by Lennon. The period ended as Borgmann counted with a foul and a field. Kingston scored 14 points to their opponents' 12 during the second frame and were now trailing by only five points.

Sharp Rally Continues
Action began immediately in the final period. Lennon counted again from the floor and Trupin dropped in a foul. Frank Shimek then tied up the score with two fields. The crowd went wild and the yelling and cheering that followed was the loudest and longest that has echoed from the walls of the Auditorium in many a moon. The score board read 26-26. The lusty cheering was then doubled, if that were possible, as Husta put his mates in the lead for the first time by dumping in a pretty floor shot. Shimek followed it up with another basket and Kingston was leading by 30-26. Saunders stemmed the tide temporarily, chalking up a deuce. Stanton then counted with his initial tally and Russell quickly followed it up with a field. Kingston was still leading by one basket. Then Shimek stepped in again with a field and foul. The Jackaways clung on with everything they had and Trupin sank a deuce, bringing them to within three points of the flying Legionnaires. But from this point, the local boys took complete command of the situation and had the New Britain stars on the run. Stanton dropped in two pretty field shots and Hank Kurtyka added another field and a foul. The Jackaways' final efforts in a real basketball exhibition were two foul shots by Trupin and Saunders.

From the standpoint of good, exciting basketball, the game was probably the best that the popular Legionnaires have played this year. It took one back to the days of the old Colonials—Borgmann, Artus, Powers, Harvey, Husta and the rest of Morgan's old guard who cleaned up everything in sight, including the world famous Original Celtics.

Kendall Wins Prelim
In the preliminary encounter, the Kendall Oil Five wore down the K. H. S. Varsity and stepped out to win by 39-17. During the first half the school boys gave a very good account of themselves and the score stood at 18-13, in favor of the oilmen when the bell rang. The swift pace was a little too much for them, however, and they dropped further behind during the final stages, and were continually on the defense. It was a foregone conclusion that the Kendallists would win, as their team is composed of old high school stars, and All-DUSO men, but until they gave a greater experience and staying power came to the front, the present varsity gave a good account of themselves and it was easily seen why they finished high up in the DUSO league.

Johnny Zeck was the high scorer for the winners with four fields and three fouls. Eddie Bock led the losers with three fields. His brother, Charlie, who is the leading scorer in the DUSO league, garnered two fields and one foul.

(By The Associated Press)
West Palm Beach, Fla.—Johnny Burnett, hard-hitting infielder the Browns acquired from Cleveland, is proving one of Manager Rogers Hornsby's biggest problems.

The Browns need his punch, but Burnett's fielding is far from finished. Hornsby again today watched the former Indian closely in an effort to improve his fielding.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—Myril Hoag has been trying for several years to get a regular outfield job with the New York Yankees. Now he's taking a whirl at third base and may make the grade.

"I'm just experimenting with Hoag," says Manager Joe McCarthy. "Maybe he'll be all right as an infielder. I'm going to keep him there for a while, anyway, and see."

Orlando, Fla.—Danny Taylor has reported to training camp in top condition and the Brooklyn Dodgers have Stanley Borgardary to thank for it.

Taylor, who weighed over 200 pounds at this time last year, scales a neat 185 today, chiefly because he knows he has a battle on his hands to keep his leftfield job out of the hands of Borgardary, highly-touted recruit the Dodgers bought during the winter.

Tampa, Fla.—Cincinnati's Reds were scheduled for "hard practice" today. The regular lineup was defeated 9 to 1 yesterday at the hands of the "Colts."

Miami Beach, Fla.—To Gus Mancuso, apparently, it was an idle question. The New York Giants' first-string

Spectators Clutter Braves Training Camp

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 6 (AP).—The Babe apparently has an eye on the house as well as one on the business at hand.

The Braves' training camp was cluttered with spectators—an enviable number of them.

"If we have crowds like that for our exhibition games," Ruth observed to Secretary Cunningham, "it would give us a real nice start."

He added that he intended playing Saturday against the Cincinnati Reds at Tampa.

Sir Malcolm Stopped By Lady Campbell

Wife of Speed King and Florida Official Prevent Dangerous Run on Daytona Beach—Titled Englishman Slightly Obeys the Mrs.

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 6 (AP).—Abashed, but feeling very good inside about a lot of things, Sir Malcolm Campbell waited today for his 300 mile an hour beach, firm in the hands of Lady Campbell, and certain for the first time that public opinion says he mustn't endanger his life any more.

Lady Campbell, his wife, stepped in and stopped him yesterday when, on top of the broken cowling accident Saturday that nearly gassed him and the bouncing Sunday that almost threw him out of the seven ton car, he decided to run with close to a gale of wind blowing.

"It's suicide," she said, "and we mustn't let him do it."

The beach officials, Mayor E. H. Armstrong, and John McNamara, assistant adjutant general for the state, felt the same. They raced down the beach in one car to head him off. Luckily they got there before he started.

"You can't go," said the mayor. "It's too dangerous. I'm ordering the timing traps and the course flags taken down. We value your safety more than we do record speeds."

"Come, Malcolm," said Lady Campbell, and Malcolm a bit sheepishly came like a good husband.

The crowd cheered the announcement that he wasn't going to run. That was a great surprise to the little gentleman. It warmed him, put an entirely different complexion on things for him.

Comforter Missions Trim the 4-Squares

The Comforter Missions won their third straight game last night with the Poughkeepsie 4 Square Club as the victims. The Missions were on the short end of a 15-18 score at the beginning of the fourth quarter but four fields by Elmer and two more by Neer, along with some excellent passing, decided the game.

Z. N. P. Five to Play Roamers on Thursday

Thursday evening at White Eagle Hall the Z. N. P. quintet will tackle the Roamers. There will be two other preliminary attractions, the first starting at 7:30. The main game will start at 9:15.

The Z. N. P. will use their regular lineup of Stampf, Kleffer, Munson, Golder, Keanoch, Kelly and Butser. The Roamers' lineup has not been announced as yet.

Two Games Scheduled In Y. W. C. A. League

On Thursday evening at the Y. W. C. A. the Fuller Girls will play the Hercules team and the Roodale team will take on the Varsity Five. The first game will start at 7:30 and the Varsity game at 9:30. The latter game with Roodale will be the deciding tilt in the league. Both teams have won the same number of games.

More Districts for Golfers to Qualify

New York, March 6 (AP).—Keeping abreast of the continually growing interest and popularity in the sport, the United States Golf Association expects to increase the number of sectional qualifying districts for the open and amateur championships and probably raise the qualifying quota for the amateur to 200.

John G. Jackson, vice-president of the association and chairman of the championship committee, disclosed today that his committee has these matters under consideration and will probably reach a decision within the next two weeks.

The U. S. G. A. is seriously considering increasing the number of qualifying districts and in the case of key centers, such as the Metropolitan district embracing New York and New Jersey, permit them to have qualifying tests with outsiders barred.

Saugerties High vs. Po'keepsie Tonight

Tonight in the Saugerties High School gym the Saugerties High quintet will clash with the Poughkeepsie High School team. The game will start at 8:45 and there will be no preliminary.

Saugerties has been defeated only twice this season, once by Poughkeepsie at Poughkeepsie and by Hudson on the local court. Both games were close.

Poughkeepsie is still undefeated, having 15 successive wins to their credit. The squad recently trimmed Staatsburg, 47-29.

Probable starting lineups: Saugerties—J. Overbagh or Swift, rf; E. Imparto, lf; Parades, c; V. Imparto, 2; Wolven or Keenan, 3; Poughkeepsie—Krieger, rf; Tafel, lf; Greco, c; Gunh, 2; Ligon, 3.

Tilson, March 6.—Pupils who deserve honorable mention for having an average of 90 or more for the month are: Primary grades—Nancy Beam, Winifred Bladergreen, Eva Dewey, Ruth Ida Dewey, Catherine Hoffman, Vincent Kuhn, Bustiano Marziano, Ruth Rossway, Betty Tompkins, and Jean Van Nossdall.

Upper grades—Bernice Bladergreen, Frank Bladergreen, Eleanor DeMare, Ernest Dewey, Albert Myers and Alan Walter.

On February 8 the pupils of the primary room presented in morning assembly a pleasing little playlet entitled "The Fairies Gifts". Jean Van Nossdall and Eva Dewey also interpreted the popular song, "Winter Wonderland".

For Lincoln's Birthday and Valentine's Day two of the primary pupils arranged, coached and announced in assembly programs in keeping with the day.

On February 21 in honor of Washington's Birthday the upper grades entertained in morning assembly. During the program two very interesting compositions were heard. One, "Washington as a Soldier", written by Bernice Bladergreen, the other, "Washington's Presidency", written by Alan Walter.

The pupils who were neither absent nor tardy for the month are: Eleanor DeMare, Ruth Ida Dewey, Anna DuBois, Mary DuBois, William Allen, Thomas Brown, Horace Ghent, Doris Keator, Vincent Kuhn, Bustiano Marziano, Frank Marziano, James Marziano, Albert Myers, Ruth Rossway, and Alan Walter.

Finances In Spotlight

The government threw a spotlight on the private finances of Mrs. Allas Mellon Bruce (above), daughter of Andrew Mellon, as it strove before the tax appeals board to sustain a $3,089,000 assessment on the former treasury secretary's 1931 income. It was brought out that Mrs. Bruce was paid $321,000 in dividends in 1931 on stock obtained from her father. (Associated Press Photo)

Thank the 1935
FORD V-8
for these outstanding
USED CAR VALUES

The record-breaking demand for the new Ford V-8 has brought with it an unusual opportunity for used car buyers.

Literally hundreds of cars that have been taken in trade in the last few weeks by Ford dealers are used cars in exceptionally good condition. Almost every make of car is represented. Many of them are 1933 and 1934 models.

We believe these unusual circumstances make this the best opportunity in years to buy a good used car at the right price. It will pay you to go now to the nearest Ford Dealer and inspect the values on his floor.

Remember this, too: The place you buy your used car is just as important as the kind of car you buy. The values offered in this clearance are all backed by the reputation of Authorized Ford Dealers—a reputation for fair, square dealing which is your best assurance of genuine value and satisfied used car ownership.
